

Heroes recognized

"Honoring a Hero," a special tribute to Jack Weinstein, Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, will be held on Friday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m. in Sawhill Park. Mayor Scott Schultz will welcome guests.

Connie Rooney, Ladies' Auxiliary, will read the account of Weinstein's act of valor. Following the reading, Chad Miller will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." The St. Francis City Council will present Nancy Weinstein, Jack's widow, with a memorial plaque and replicas of all of Sergeant Weinstein's medals. These will be permanently placed at the Cheyenne County Museum. An Honor Guard from Fort Riley will take part in the ceremony.

All veterans are invited to stand on stage and be recognized during this presentation. The Congressional Medal of Honor presented at the ceremony will be on display at the museum open house on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The public is invited to attend both special events.

Assistance to producers

State Conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has announced today that NRCS has assistance available for producers in Kansas suffering from ongoing drought conditions. Drought recovery funding assistance will be under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

This assistance will be available for land where any portion of the county has been designated a D3 (Extreme) or D4 (Exceptional) drought zone according to the U.S. Drought Monitor map as of May 27. Contact your local NRCS office for specific drought area designation.

Kansas has received an additional $300,000 drought recovery allocation for existing unfunded EQIP applications. This may be a source of additional assistance to producers to mitigate the short-term or long-term effects of the drought.

NRCS has grazing specialists that provide recommendations about range and pasture management and options to consider for forage and water management.

EQIP offers financial and technical assistance to eligible participants to install or implement structural and management practices on eligible agricultural land. Conservation practices must be implemented to NRCS standards and specifications. In Kansas, socially disadvantaged, limited resource, and beginning farmers and ranchers will receive a higher payment rate for eligible conservation practices applied. For applicants wishing to install practices prior to receiving a funded contract, a waiver from the State Conservationist must be obtained at the local USDA Service Center.

Additional information about drought resources is located on the Kansas NRCS drought Web site at www.ks.nrcs.usda.gov/technical/drought/ or stop by your local USDA Service Center and visit the NRCS office.
