States agree on usage

On Dec. 15, the Kansas filed lawsuit against Nebraska and Colorado over water usage from Republican River (under the 1943 Republican River Compact) took a significant step toward a negotiated settlement with the signing by all three states of a settlement document.

This document still has to be approved by U.S. Supreme Court Special Master, the Honorable Vincent McKusick, who has been handling this case thus far. Finally it must go to the Supreme Court itself with the Honorable McKusick's recommendations.

It will take a while before the full conditions of the settlement can be absorbed and evaluated by anyone other than those who negotiated it. The settlement is an estimated 400 pages - with a couple of thousand pages of appendices provided on an included CD.

It appears that less change is in store for Kansas water right users because much of the negotiated water rights accounting and reporting is what Kansas has been doing anyway. This is certainly not to say that "no" changes will befall Kansas ground and surface water right holders within the Compact area. If you want more information or would like to sift through the settlement, visit the Colby office of the Northwest Kansas Groundwater Management District No. 4 at 1175 South Range Avenue.

Terry Keefer is the son of Bill and Jean Keefer of Oskaloosa. He is a graduate of Lawrence High School and the University of Kansas. Presently he is employed as the general manager of the Lawrence Athletic Club in Lawrence.

The couple is planning a June 7, 2003 wedding.
