Can you guess who the Queen is?

The Tri-State Antique and Thresher Show will be held July 29 through Aug. 1 at the Thresher Showgrounds east of Bird City. Throughout the four days, there will be many events including the threshing of wheat done the way the farmers threshed it in the "good ole days."

However, one of the main events is the announcing of the Thresher Queen on Thursday afternoon right after lunch. The Tri-State Antique Auto Club Queen will be crown on Friday.

This year's Thresher Queen was the first born of five children. She spent all of her childhood years and most of her adult years in Bird City. She attended school in Bird City and graduated from Bird City High School. All of her married life was spent with her husband and children in Bird City.

In her younger years, she helped care for her younger siblings. Being the oldest, she was her dad's "righthand boy." If he needed help with anything, she was the strongest and most able to lend a hand. When the last two of her siblings were born, she then remembers helping her mother more. She'd stand on a chair to do laundry on the washboard and then use the wash water to scrub the outhouse down.

family made their weekly trip to town. She remembers getting quite homesick but was so busy she didn't have a lot of time to think about it.

She spent her time caring for the family's children and helping with harvest meals. It's no wonder she turned out to be such a good cook; she started at an early age.

They would get up around 4 in the morning to start breakfast for a crew of about 15. Lunch would be taken out later in the day and then supper was served in the house much later in the evening when the crews came in. It would be past midnight before

Several races expected for primary election on Aug. 3

By Karen Krien

The primary election is just weeks away and it is time for concerned citizens and voters to be checking into the candidates up for election and see what issues and goals they have to offer the position.

The primary election is set from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Aug. 3 at several different polling places in the county including: the courthouse basement for those voting in Benkelman, Calhoun, Cleveland, Jaqua and Orlando townships; Bird City Legion Hall for those voting in Bird City Township; Peace Lutheran Church for Wano I Township voters; and United Methodist Church for Wano II Township voters.

However, advanced voting has started and those requesting advanced voting ballots may have already sent them in or they need to get them sent in on or before Aug. 3. Deb Lindsten, deputy clerk, reported that the voting booth will be set up and voters may cast an early ballot starting July 20. The booth is in the clerk's office in the northeast corner of the courthouse.

There are sample ballots in the clerk's office or people may go to the internet at www.cheyennecounty.org to check out the ballots.

Vehicle renewal notices have a new look with big change and the division of vehicles at the across the nation are seeing a big change.

The Department of Revenue, Division of Vehicles has changed the form and process for reminding citizens to renew their vehicle registration. The new vehicle renewal notices will be used for the Aug. 31 expirations. If the person's last name starts with an M, N, or O, look for the new notice after July 15.

The old renewal notice was a preprinted form and accommodated up to three vehicles. The new renewal notices will be printed on regular pa-

> 'I am afraid people will see the envelope and not realize that this is their renewal notice," said Dolores Jenik, county treasurer, urging residents to take special notice of their mail, especially when they are expecting their renewal notices.

The new technology gave the Department of Revenue the ability to perform a better match of the vehicle ownername and address information. For example, if a vehicle is registered to Robert Smith and/or Barbara Smithand another vehicle is registered to matching software will "group" both vehicles on one notice.

Previously, two notices would have been produced and mailed. The ability to list more vehicles on the same renewal notice will reduce the amount of notices and postage used to remind Kansas's citizens to renew their vehicle registration. The new notices will now be printed in Kansas and not with an out-of-state vendor

Joan Wagnon, secretary of revenue, said, "We are pleased to take advantage of new technology that improves the product while making government work more efficient."

She will never forget the Dust Bowl days. Her dad came to get her and her sister from school one day when it was a total blackout. She followed him home with her hands in his back pockets while he carried her sister. She's not sure to this day how they made it home.

Her grandchildren love hearing her memories of the jack rabbit hunts. When she was in junior high, they would turn school out so that the community could gather to hunt the many jack rabbits that were eating the crops. They would walk close together across the fields carrying clubs trying to corral the rabbits. Their efforts were usually very successful.

A highlight in her life was the day Charles Lindbergh returned from his trip across the pond. She recalls all the students from school going out to a nearby field and forming the word "Welcome" as he circled over them three times. It was a memorable day.

Have you guessed who the 2005 Thresher Oueen is? If not, look for additional information in next week's Bird City Times and The Saint Francis Herald.

Superintendent David Zumbahlen will oversee the school year gate receipts. Students who reside within the Cheylin School District and who attend other schools had their application approved.

Marcus Cahoj, Simone Cahoj, Katie Holub, Kayla McCain, Haley McCain, Shelton McCain, Logan Rall, Sheena Rall, Jaelynn Sis, Jesse Sis, Stephanie Sis, Valerie Sis, Gabrial Skolout, Isabella Skolout and Sawyer Skolout will attend Atwood

Both the Student Handbook and Faculty Handbook for the 2004-05 year were accepted with minor changes. The board took some time to discuss the need to enforce the Open Gym Policy at the Cheylin High School. An adult is required to be present, which is often not the case, and too many keys to the building are out which makes it difficult to identify responsible parties. One option would be the use of a card-key lock with a limited number of cards to be checked out. The board is looking into the cost of installing such a system.

The Fall Sports Training Rules were accepted with some minor changes. Also, substitute teacher pay will remain at $75 per day. In addition the Child Nutrition Services Agreement, revisions to the Technology Curriculum and Northwest Kansas Technical College Participating Agreement were accepted.

Next month at the board meeting on Aug. 9, the board will adopt the budget for the 2004-05 school year. With all the information necessary for the board members to consider, Superintendent Zumbahlen presented a preliminary report for review. One possible option to have a balanced budget could be an increase in the mill levy same card the next day, or anytime thereafter, (at the clerk's office) and become unaffiliated again.

"Clear as mud? Don't worry. We'll help you out at the polls if you are an unaffiliated voter and have questions. You can always call the clerk's office as well," Clerk Miller said.

Biggest change

Officer Miller said probably the biggest change Help America Vote Act has produced this year is that the voter must show a form of identification before they vote if they are a "first time voter."

According to the Help America Vote Act, first time voters must provide identification to a county election official before receiving a ballot.

"You are considered a "first time voter" if you have never voted in Cheyenne County. If this is you, be prepared to show one of these forms of identification: a) A current and valid driver's license or non driver's identification card issued by the Kansas Division of Motor Vehicles; b) Current utility bill; c) Bank statement; d) Paycheck; e) Government check; f) Other government document showing the name and current address of the voter," Officer Miller said.

The name and address on the above forms must match the voter's registration information. If the voter doesn't bring identification to the poll and are a first-time voter, he/she will still be allowed to vote a provisional ballot.

"You will then have until the canvass of votes, Friday, Aug. 6, to show identification. If you cannot provide the identification by that time, your vote will not count," Officer Miller said. "If you have questions about whether you'll need to show identification at the polls, call the clerk's office (785-332-8800).

show identification when they vote can also come to the clerk's office tails," he said. anytime before voting and provide identification and they won't have to show identification at the polls. "This would speed up the process to vote, so you're welcome to come by the office and show us who you the year 2006, each polling place in are," Officer Miller said.

Provision ballot This year, those issued a provision clerk's office to see if their vote was counted or rejected.

"Before, you never knew if your vote was rejected or accepted," Officer Miller said. "You will be told the reason if it is rejected"

A provisional ballot is any ballot that is cast that may have questions regarding the voter's status. For example, if the address doesn't match what is registered at the clerk's office, they would be allowed to vote, but the ballot would go in a special envelope. Another envelope would explain the details of the discrepancy and the board of county commissioners, along with the county election officer/ clerk would count or reject the ballot, depending on the situation, at the canvass of votes.

Polling places are accessible The polling places are to be readily accessible to all voters.

The clerk's office had to complete an accessibility survey for each voting place. Many polling places have been closed throughout Kansas due to the cost involved in bringing these polls up to American Disability Act standards. Many precincts have been combined because of these poll closings.

"In Cheyenne County, we will be able to make due with our current polling places," Officer Miller said. You may see some duct tape on doors or doors propped open, but don't be alarmed. We're just trying to be compliant at minimal costs.

Help America Vote Act also requires county election officers to train the election board workers. The clerk's office is getting all the training information ready and training will be shortly before the election

"If you are an election board Those knowing they will need to worker, you'll be receiving a packet from the clerk's office with more de-

Those who would like ballot will be able to check with the to see samples of 2004 primary election ballots can go to http:// www.cheyennecounty.org and click on the Election link. Sample ballots are also available at the clerk's office as well. Advance ballots can be mailed out on July 14 and advance voting in person will start in the clerk's office on July 20.

> 'Get out and vote, be it early or at the polls on Aug. 3,".Officer Miller said.
