

Behind the Scenes By Janet Carman

The Cheyenne County Historical Society is hosting a tour of the cemeteries of northeast Cheyenne County on Sunday, Sept. 14. Everyone interested is welcome to join the caravan of cars at 2 p.m. at the Shelter House at Van Doren Park in Bird City. Stan and Dee Dorsch will lead the way, stopping first at Evergreen near Big Timber.

What is it that draws us to cemeteries?

When Stan and I travel, we stop at cemeteries. We've visited cemeteries in the middle of cities, cemeteries on lonely wind-blown mountaintops, war cemeteries in France and cemeteries where old country churches once stood.

While reading about cemeteries online, I found a short article that helped me understand why we always stop to take a look. The author most probably was Mary Bannon, who wrote the passage in the 1970s.

"This is a Cemetery. Lives are commemorated. Deaths are recorded. Families are reunited. Memories are made tangible, and love is undisguised.

"Communities accord respect. Families bestow reverence. Historians seek information, and our heritage is thereby enriched.

"Testimonies of devotion, pride and remembrance are carved in stone to pay warm tribute to accomplishments and to the life - not death - of a loved one.

"The cemetery is homeland for family memorials that are a sustaining source of comfort to the living.

"A cemetery is a history of people - a perpetual record of yesterday and a sanctuary of peace and quiet today. A cemetery exists because every life is worth loving and remembering - always."
