Slave auction is held

Last Thursday, the Cheylin FFA held their annual Slave Auction and Lamb Fry at Mc-Donald.

With a large crowd attending, the bidders got the chance to bid on 21 FFA students for skills such as a dance master, knows how to go round and round, requires naps and plans to rule the world.

The bidding was hot and heavy between friends and family of the students. The highest winning bid was $200 and the average around $150.

The last slave on the auction block was Max Keltz, sponsor of FFA, to be sold for $25 to his daughter Elizabeth Keltz. When asked what she was going to have him do for her, "Clean my room!" she said.
