NOTICE OF HEARING AND
NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Case No. : 09PR17

THE STATE OF KANSAS
TO ALL PERSONS CONCERNED:

You are hereby notified that on June 25, 2009, a Petition was filed in this Court by Billy J. Lee, praying for the issuance of Letters of Administration under the Kansas Simplified Estate Act.

You are further advised that under the provisions of the Kansas Simplified Estates Act the Court need not supervise administration of the Estate, and no notice of any action of the Executor or other proceedings in the administration will be given, except for notice of final settlement of decedent's estates.

You are further advised that if written objections to simplified administration are filed with the Court, the Court may order that supervised administration ensue.

You are required to file your written defenses to said petition on or before the 28th day of July, 2009, at 11:00 o'clock a.m. of said day, in the District Court of Cheyenne County, Kansas, at which time and place the cause will be heard. Should you fail to do so, judgment and decree will be entered in due course upon the petition.

All creditors are notified to exhibit their demands against the estate within four (4) months from the date of first publication of this notice, as provided by law, and if said demands are not thus exhibited, they shall be forever barred.

Outdoor poisons and chemicals

Most homes in America have products that could be poisonous, especially for pets and children. These include things that are used outside to take care of the lawn, garden, pools and spas.

- Read the labels of products you buy and keep in your home. If you see the words, "caution," "Warning," "Danger," "Poison" or "Keep Out of Reach of Children," be very careful.

- Store poisons in a place where children cannot see or touch them. Use child safety locks. Here are some examples of products to keep locked up: pesticides, automotive fluids and charcoal lighter, paint thinner, antifreeze and turpentine. Ideally, hazardous products should be stored in a locking cabinet.

- Keep products in the container they came in. Do not put them in a different bottle or jar.

- Do not mix products together because their contents could react together with dangerous results.

- When using harsh products, follow directions. For example, use gloves, eye goggles and masks if the label says so.

Use gasoline safely

- Gasoline is very dangerous inside a home or garage. Gasoline vapors can explode with just a tiny spark.

- If you can, keep the container in an outdoor shed away from your home. Close all the openings.

- Never bring or use gasoline indoors. Use it as motor fuel only.

The National Poison Control Hotline and How to Use It

Everyone should know the phone number to reach their Poison Center. The Poison Help number is 1-800-222-1222. This is a free call.

- The Poison Center has experts who will help if you have any questions about poisons. All you have to do is call.

- Write down the number: 1-800-222-1222.

- Put it near the telephone or on the refrigerator

- Save it to your cell phone
- Put it where you can see it quickly

- The Poison Center is always open. The people who answer the phone know all about poison. They are medical professionals.

- They can find help for people in almost any language. If you don't speak English well, tell them your language.

- If you think someone has taken a poison and is sick, it may be an emergency. Call 9-1-1 if someone:

- Won't wake up

- Is having trouble breathing or is not breathing
- Is having a seizure
- Call 1-800-222-1222 if:

- There may be a poison problem, but the person seems okay
- You have questions about poisons.

Bird City News

Dr. Claire Smrekar and Eric Slater of Nashville, Tenn., spent last Thursday afternoon and evening with Dave Hensarling of Bird City.

As this was their first visit to Bird City, they spent the day seeing the sights of the area.

Before leaving on Friday, Roy and Karen Shrader prepared a wonderful country breakfast for the guests.

While in Goodland having chemotherapy on Sunday, Hollis DaPron fell and broke her leg. The doctors were able to operate and reset her leg, and Mrs. DaPron was able to go to Denver, Colo. to receive her therapy.

Her husband, John DaPron, said she is due back this week, but will be in a swing and may return to Goodland Regional Medical Center. It is not necessary to send cards at this time; it is unknown where she will be staying.
