75 Cents 6 Pages

THE COUGAR FOOTBALL TEAM mix it up during the soap scrimmage exposition game on Friday.

Times staff photo by Linda Schneider

Cougars come out to play

gar high school football and vol- Schneider. leyball teams played the soap the Bird City community.

drive for the local food pantry.

This year's volleyball coaching staff includes Cristi Antholz, scrimmage exposition game for ers for 2009 are Cassie Rucker, Keltz and Rachel Keltz. Teryn Carmichael, Naomi Reeh, Before the game, the Booster Whitney Churchwell, Samantha Caleb Keltz, Wil Orten, Dalton Club hosted a barbecue and food Lampe, Ana Ponce, Iliana Rey- Magnani, Sean Smith, Jereminoso, Stephanie Busse, Jessie ah White, Kenan Reeh, Chris leyball players displayed good Smith, and Forrest Burr.

Stefan, assistant coaches. Manag- Hengen, Joshua Keltz, Jesus High school volleyball play- ers are Danny Frisbie, Elizabeth

The players are Lance Leonard, Walden, Adam Orten, Heath team and individual skills and The high school football coach- Churchwell, Heath Antholz, the crowd saw some great games head coach; Kendal Cahoj, assis- ing staff includes Max Keltz, head Jared Cahoj, Mitchel Jensen, played.

Last Friday, the Cheylin Cou- tant coach, and manager Nakita coach; Dennis Hengen and Jeremy Grant Shrader, Ruben Razo, Max Ramirez, Hudson Louderbaugh, Craig Busse, Ethan Young, Austin Cobb, Austin Manners, and Adrian Garcia.

Both the football and vol-

ANA PONCE GETS under a setup for a good spike during the soap scrimmage on Friday. Times photo by Linda Schneider

Golf course will close for lack of funds

By Linda Schneider dublinls@hotmail.com

In its day, the Bird City Golf Course the grounds and equipment. would host annual tournaments to financial help to keep from closing created a place where they could come together for a day away from the cares of the world and business.

For over 80 years, Bird City Golf Course has given golfers the opportunity for single and team competition. In addition, with membership, minimal green fees and volunteer grounds keepers, the golf course was able to stay open and remain a favorite spot for local players. However, it has been 15 years since the golf course has had a tournament played on it and few visitors to its 11-holes sand greens.

Dennis Hengen, Cheylin golf coach, still uses the course for team practice and does not want to see it closed down. Last year, the golf team went to state competition for the first time since 1983 and the team placed the community," Coach Hengen said. Course open.

"But it needs the sand greens oiled and younger volunteers to maintain

Coach Hengen and the golf team over 100 participants and boast of do get out and help with some of the having 75 to 80 paying members. To- work, however, regular grounds manday the golf course is in dire need of icuring, machinery repair, and weed spraying is necessary.

The present grounds keepers are In 1927, H.W. "Hank" Hickert, Charlie Merklin, Lee Amsberry, separated 96 acres out of his sheep Demi Shahan and Hal Sager. Both pasture, and for the love of the game Mr. Amsberry and Mr. Shahan have of golf, he and several of his cronies been participating in golf course membership, grounds upkeep since the 1980s, and want to see younger workers take over the project.

> "This is a community project and I want to see the course stay open," Mr. Shahan said "Golf is a sport that a person can compete in for life. And I want to see Cheylin students be able to continue to use it."

The property has stayed in the Hickert family, and Dave Hickert is more concerned about keeping the golf course opened than having it closed down.

"There is no chance of losing it (golf course) because rent is not paid, rent paid is for taxes owed," said Mr. Hickert. "And I do not have any plans to farm the land if it does shut down."

Today (Thursday), there will be a pancake feed at the American Legion Hall and a free-will donation to help with the repairs, rent and other inciden-"The golf course is a great thing for tals needed to keep the Bird City Golf

BIRD CITY RESIDENTS SHOWED UP for a couple of work days at George Bandomir's home to repair and replace his roof. It was a team effort with workers on the roof hammering, workers on the ground sawing and preparing supplies, and workers stopping by with lunch to keep it going smoothly.

Times staff photo by Linda Schneider

Commissioners agree not to give keys to city officers

By Karen Krien

karen.k@nwkansas.com

At the Aug. 15 meeting, the Cheyenne County Commissioners discussed giving a key to the St. Francis city policemen so they could come and talk to the dispatchers after the courthouse closed. They also talked about exchanging keys so the sheriff's officers could use the city's holding facility for keeping prisoners overnight.

However, at the Monday meeting, the commissioners agreed that, because of liability and security reasons, no keys would be exchanged.

"What it boils down to is the question, does this key have anything to do with keeping the law?" said Andy Beikman, commissioner. "Common sense is the key word."

There were several reasons for no announced in the middle of the come into the dispatch office.

keys but the main discussion was night. around the issue of security.

First of all, no one but dispatchers and the sheriff are allowed in the 911 dispatch office. That is not a rule made by the county dispatcher or sheriff, but is a federal law, sheriff Craig Van Allen said.

sitive and personal, he said. If it other door could be opened and they were to fall into the wrong person's hands, it could be dangerous. Homeland Security information comes through the office and is not to be released. There is a fine up to $15,000 if information gets out.

The dispatchers had met and expressed their concerns. They did not like the idea of someone having a key and coming up un-handicap entrance of the courthouse and what the cost would be.

focused only on who is at the door, The information is highly sen- they pointed out. From there on, anwould never know it. By releasing responsible for anything and everything in the courthouse and they did not want that responsibility.

> They also said the city officers would not come over and visit during the day, why did they want a key to visit at night? Dispatchers could not leave the office to talk to them and the officers would not be able to commissioners talked about in- come to the office after hours, they stalling a security camera at the are always accompanied by a sheriff's deputy.

The security camera would be us, the dispatchers had said, they can either call us on the phone

Sheriff Van Allen said the city's holding facility was good the opening on the door, they were only for a couple of hours. The er, asked Dale Patton, commis-deal with the National Crime county's facility will hold a prisoner over night but work needs to be done. It only costs $40 a day/night to hold a prisoner in the Sherman County Bastille.

The commissioners asked about the last 911 dispatch meeting. The meeting had included the chief of police, Shane Guggenmos; city attorney, Mike

At the Aug. 15 meeting, the ficers do not have keys. When they liland; Carol Gamblin, 911 dis-noting that some people survive patch director; and Sheriff Van Allen. Both Mrs. Gamblin and the sheriff said that some things If the officers need to talk to had been discussed but some of the main issues were not talked ficer out of Topeka. He/she may about. Both the sheriff and director had been personally in-

> Andy Beikman, commissionsioner, if he had known about Information Center will be held the meeting. Both had asked to on Oct. 14. At this time, at this be included at the meeting but they had not been notified. There may be conflict between the two offices, Sheriff Van Allen said, but our primary purpose is to do what needs to be done to keep the public safe.

You continue to do what you office.

They said the highway patrol of- Day; county attorney, Kari Gil- know is right, Mr. Beikman said on turmoil and others are jus-negative. The 911 dispatch office wil soon be audited by a security of be able to tell the dispatch director what would be the best solution to some of the problems There will be a second audit to time, an official will go through the records, making sure everything is entered correctly and are abiding by the highway patro guidelines. At this time, they will also be checking everything that is going on in the dispatch

9/1/09 4:22:37 PM