Casey's Comments

By Casey McCormick

scmccormick@nwkansas.com It's 9:00 on a Thursday morning as I sit at my computer in the newspaper office. The temperature outside is listed at -2 on the Weather Channel website. Factor in the wind-chill and nobody in their right mind should be outside. And what am I thinking about? A beautiful, plump, sitting high on its shell, Blue Point oyster!

I know, I know, not everyone loves raw oysters. But for me they are truly one of life's great pleasures.

When I was a kid my folks liked to bombard my siblings and me with a variety of different types of food. Maybe it was because my Dad was in the Navy in WWII. Perhaps it came from Mom's side. Her father, Howard McIntyre, was also in the newspaper business, working for the Canton Repository in Ohio. Mother says he was always bringing home new items that the local markets brought in to advertise. Where ever it came from, there were no picky eaters at our house.

I remember a trip to Florida to visit the McIntyre grandparents. They had relocated to Bradenton Beach, on the Gulf side, and we stayed at a hotel not far away. Each evening we would gorge ourselves on oysters on the half shell for a nickel each.

Later, when I was living in Lafayette, Louisiana, I found a restaurant that served an oyster platter with a dozen prepared in a variety of ways. Every kind from Oysters Rockefeller, to fried, to a bisque. Yum!

Another great place was a little joint in Baton Rouge, not far from the LSU campus, that offered a mean oyster Po-Boy sandwich.

Nowadays, whenever Lezlie and I get a chance to travel, we both enjoy hunting down a seafood restaurant. But today I will stay close to the warmth of the Herald office and do my work with the phone and dream of a bivalve waiting for me in a more moderate

If you want to see some good old fashion patriotism, go to a rodeo. If you want to see God praised and acknowledged for blessing this nation, go to a rodeo.

particularly the rodeo.

Before coming to Kansas, we had gone to only one other rodeo and it was good, but it wasn't like the rodeo in Denver.

And I believe there is something to be said about folks who are not shy about their love for this country.

I have heard our nation's leaders apologize for the way we live here, so it was refreshing to hear and remove your hats in respect it also.

for our nation's flag." You want to know something, I believe this year is going to see changes in how the American people feel about their country.

I recently watched a Christian talk show and the guest said Our family, Brad, myself and our something very interesting, he said grandsons, Ivan and Joseph, went on that you won't find people moving our second annual visit to Denver, to countries that are non-Christian, Colo., to watch the Stock Show, even non-Christians don't want to live in their own countries. The reason he said was because of the freedoms Christian nations have. I believe it.

We have so much freedom, it literally binds the American people up! That statement is what is called an oxymoron-it contradicts itself.

Anyway, it was pretty amazing for me to hear the unabashed pride that I saw at the Denver rodeos. It the announcer say, "Please stand was great for our grandsons to see
