Workers needed for wellness center

A community work day has wiring for lights, fans, televisions, been set for Saturday, Sept. 22, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., to finish the outside and install drywall on the interior of the wellness center.

The exterior doors are installed, the Cheylin rough construction class is working on the south side awning and the plan is to finish installing the siding, trim and soffits.

Brian Perkins, with the help of students, has installed the security cameras and fire alarms.

Michael Pochop is installing the heating-air condition ducts and necessary plumbing for the drywall installation. This will be a fun day, free lunch will be provided for everyone, so bring your hammer and/or cordless drill and become a part of history, with the right to say, "I helped build the wellness center".

karen.k@nwkansas.com Sunday afternoon at the St. Francis Community High School was an enjoyable and rewarding experience for around 60 band students from Cheylin, Cambridge, Neb., and St. Francis. The Denver Brass 5 came for a workshop which started at 1 p.m. in the band room.

There were five members playing different numbers but, talk to the students, encouraging them to play, to practice, to find someone's music they admire and try to make those same sounds, and last of all, enjoy music and pursue it throughout their lives.

As they played and talked, the students, as well as several adults, listened intently, laughing at the jokes and applauding their music.

At the end of the workshop, the musicians commented on how polite and well behaved the students were.

Jim Milliken, St. Francis, had brought the Denver Brass 5 to St. Francis. He has participated in the audience. Denver Brass Holiday Brass Fest was such an opportunity for other musicians that he began inviting help of many. others to go with him, paying the fee to participate.

The number has grown to include 11 people and Mr. Milliken has started a fund so there will be enough money that young and old can play with these talented musicians in the years to come.

At the end of the workshop, Nakita Schneider and Tommy Frisbie, Cheylin School students, and Louanne Isernhagen, leader of the Once Again Sound Band, St. Francis, told about their experiences and the fun they had at the Holiday Brass Fest.

Following the workshop, lunch was served at the park for both the Denver Brass players as well as those youth attending. Dustin Gilliland prepared the beef which was provided by him and Kari Gilliland, Annie Hengen brought watermelon, and Rose and Dennis Hengen brought baked beans and

There was an opportunity for after each number, they would the students to have one-on-one talks with the musicians.

> The weather couldn't have been better, Mr. Milliken said. Everyone seemed to enjoy the food as well as the camaraderie. The Denver Brass musicians, he said, truly enjoyed the hospitality.

> At 4 p.m., about 225 people gathered in the school auditorium for over an hour of music ranging from classic and opera, to movie selections, to jazz, to a variety of "their favorite melodies" which included the Cheylin and St. Francis fight songs that brought some rousing clapping from the
