County commissioners receive report on Good Samaritan's fire inspection

By Karen Krien

karen.k@nwkansas.com At the June 17 Cheyenne County Commissioners' meeting, Jeff Paulsen, Good Samaritan Village administrator, reported the fire marshal's inspection had required more sprinklers be installed. The sprinklers, used in case of a fire, are to be installed in the new west entrance. The entrance is constructed of wood.

Mr. Paulsen had two quotes, one from Pryor Automatic Fire Sprinklers of Great Bend for $8,330 and one from Precision Safety Technology of Emporia for $8,497. However, the quotes were inconsistent and left questions. Mr. Paulsen said the fire marshal had said the work needed to be done by June 27. He had requested a waiver for the end of July but the commissioners met in special session on Monday, June 23, where they selected Pryor for a lower bid of $8,329.

Another deficiency were relays for two doors. The commissioners agreed to have Percision rewire and install two new 24 AC relays for door hold opens on the south hall and dining-activity area fire doors. The cost will be $720.

• Byron Moberly, landfill supervisor, and Dave Flemming, public works supervisor, met in executive session to discuss personnel problems concerning the landfill. No decision was made when they adjourned.

• Ryan Murray, emergency manager, was present to have an emergency declaration signed. The storm on Saturday, June 14, had caused enough damage that it could be declared as an emergency. It could help county businesses and individuals receive reimbursement.

· Cody Beeson, county sheriff, reported he had talked to the St. Francis City Council and was working out details for coverage for the city with Shane Guggenmos, city police chief. Hospital gives report

Hospital representatives were present at the Cheyenne County Commissioners' meeting on June 17 to give a financial report for May. Les Lacy, interim hospital administrator, was unable to attend, so Heidi Tice, chief executive officer, was the spokesperson.

Mrs. Tice reported there were 2,810 outpatients seen at the hospital in May, and there were 28 patients stays in the hospital. There were 61 emergency room patients, 599 rural health clinic patients; four surgeries, and 92 specialty clinic patients.

The last St. Francis Clinic manager had quit after a couple of weeks, so the clinic was advertising again. We have had some interviews, she said, and hope to have Ernie Ketzner, commissioner, asked about the hospital administrator's position. Mrs. Tice said Mr. Lacy has had a number of applicants and plans to have some of the candidates meet with the hospital board soon.

In other business:

• The new dexa scan is up and partments in the hospital running. There were 22 scans in May

 There were no capital equipment purchases made in May.

• The hospital is hiring one Registered Nurse for the night shift and one person is needed in housekeeping.

The hospital's "Swing Fore Your Health" golf tournament is scheduled for July 19. Mrs. Tice pointed out that the money raised will be used to help purchase a neo-natal continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) machine. The medical equipment is used to help newborn infants breathe.

In these cases, the baby wears a device that sends a stream of air into the nose and down the trachea. It creates a small amount of positive pressure in the airways, holding it open and allowing the baby to breathe.

The cost for the machine is $7,500. So far, the hospital has raised $2,625.

Also accompanying Mrs. Tice were Shawna Blanka and Dr. Shara Johnson, representing other deFrom hometown girl to missionary

The installation consists of interactive video, audio, sculpture, poetry, and prose that Tamba collected and created during his many deployments. The artist will be available during the opening to provide insight into his specific experience in war, and how art has helped him during the transition to civilian life.

There was an agreement between the prosecution and defense to a sentence of 176 months if Windell pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Judge Showalter said that he would honor that plea deal. Otherwise the case would have to go to trial.

He looked at Windell and told her that she will face a judgement one day far greater than today.

Windell was sentenced to 176 months in prison. She will get credit for time served. The maximum good time credit will be 15 percent of her sentence. She does not have the right to expunge her record.

Judge Showalter then looked at the family and friends of Brad Figgins and said he was sorry he could not do more, and impose a longer sentence on Windell. He said as a judge everything he does is about equity, but there is nothing he can do to return Brad Figgins to his family and his children

"Brad was, in fact, a peacemaker," Judge Showalter told the court.
