The Norton Junior High band received a 2+ rating, while the flute ensemble received a 1 rating, the saxophone ensemble received a 1- rating, the percussion ensemble received a 2+ rating, the brass choir received a 2 rating, the clarinet ensemble received a 2 rating, and the clarinet quartet received a 2- rating.

Accompanists for vocal were Sonya Montgomery and Priscilla Kendell. The accompanist for instrumental solos was Cindy Mordecai. Vocal teacher Valerie Lee said they appreciate the time and energy those accompanying the students gave.

"Mr. (Don) Mordecai (band teacher) and I are very proud of all of our students," Miss Lee said. They performed very well. We also thank all of the faculty for helping. It couldn't be a successful day without them!"

Local man only Kansan to perform at Abilene festival

Last October Norton's Larry Henderson was the only Kansan invited to perform at the fall music festival held in Abilene. It was sponsored by the Abilene Area Chamber of Commerce.

L. Henderson

Mr. Henderson was part of a USO show, complete with it's own "Bob Hope". He performed the poem he set to music after the events of 9-11. It's called, "The Eagle's Tear" and has been published in several newspapers and recognized by the Congress of the United States.

That appearance has lead to other performance opportunities. Mr. Henderson and his singing partner, LeeAnn Shearer are expected to perform over Labor Day weekend in Wichita and at an air show this summer.

Mr. Henderson will be making a repeat appearance at the USO show at this year's fall festival and another show in Topeka.

4-H'ers will show off talents

 The Regional 4-H Club Day will be held Friday, March 31 in Hays. This will include top selections from Graham, Rooks, Ellis, Trego, Smith, Phillips, Norton and Osborne counties.

The public is invited to watch the 4-H'ers "Make the Best Better." The 4-H Club Days offer the youth a variety of ways to present a skill or talent.

Electric cooperative will grow with purchase

 Prairie Land.

The best news about the project, he said, is that Prairie Land will grow from 8,600 meters to almost 24,000 and annual revenue will grow from $13 million to approximately $39 million. The additional revenue will help Prairie Land to maintain rate stability in the coming years.

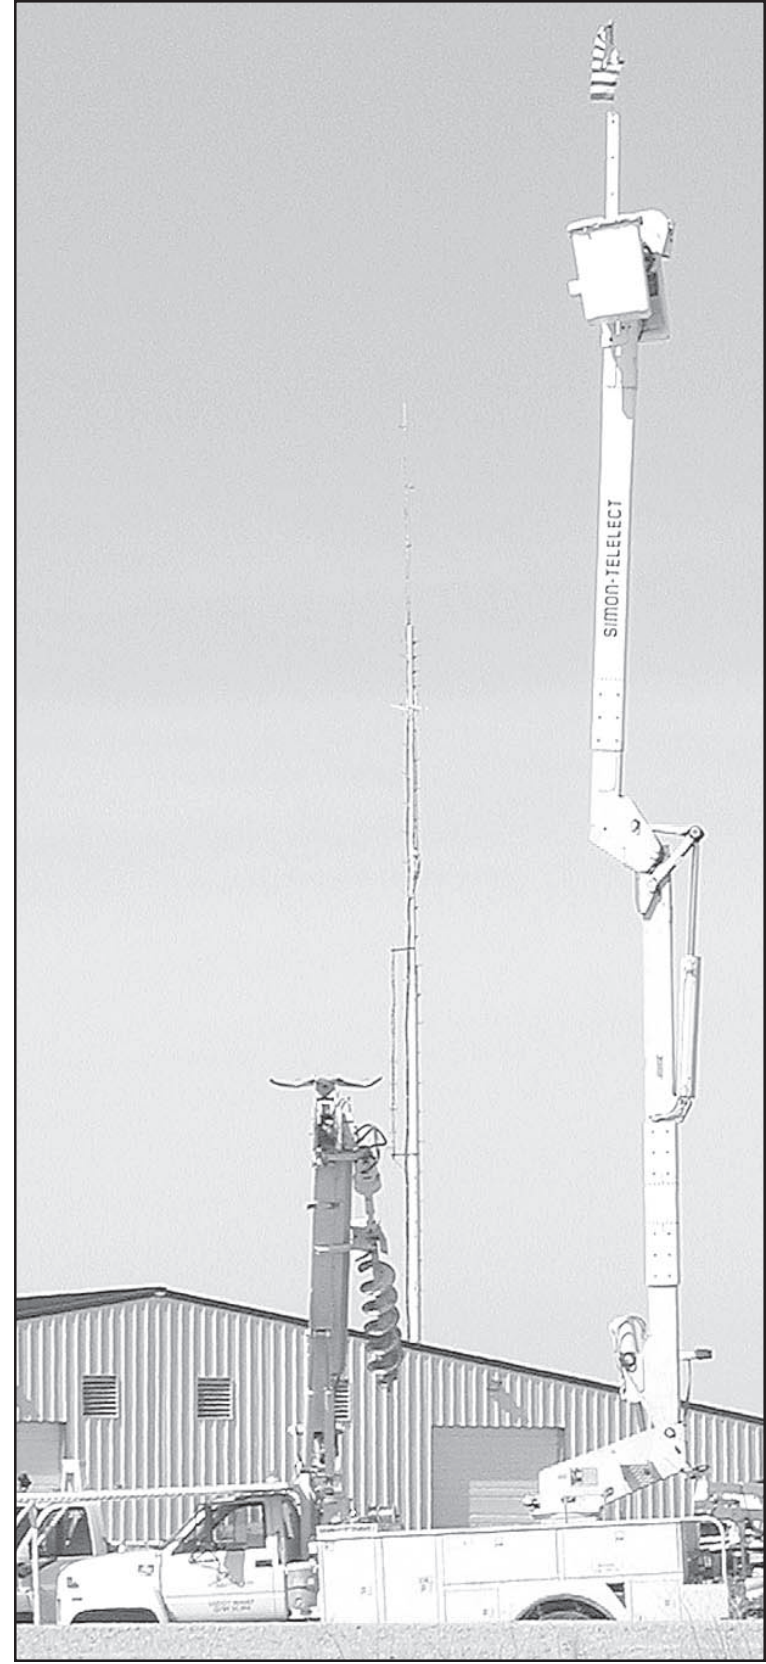

This is the 38th year of Prairie Land sponsoring the Spring Youth Tour in Washington, D.C. This year, the winners are Annette Becker and Laura Delimont, who will be going to Washington in June.

Lisa Jones and Mat Shepard will be going to the Co-op Youth Leadership meeting in July in Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Ruth Ann Bigge of "Bigge's" in Stockton served the meal. Entertainment was provided by the Jay Singers under the direction of Valerie Lee.

Winning door prizes were: Helen Johnson, McDonald, DeWalt drill; Dea Magers, Norcat, shop vac; Betty May, Oberlin, roaster oven; Keith Alstrom, Oberlin, toast-r-oven; Verna Huiting, Stuttgart, indoor grill; Eugene Dunker, Ludell, indoor grill; and Jean Focke, Atwood, pressure washer donated by Kepco.

Siblings win college election

Lucas Maddy and his sister, Katie Maddy, won the general election Wednesday evening to become president and vice-president of the student body at Kansas State University.

Maddy-Maddy supporters waited to hear the results of the election broadcast on a local Manhattan radio station. Their mother, Patsy Maddy, waiting in Norton, was tuned in to the same radio station.

Believed to be the only sibling team to campaign for the student government offices, Maddy and Maddy can now claim to be the only sibling team to win the election. They won the race with 3,019 votes, or 53.9 per cent of the vote. In the primary election the pair placed only 10 votes behind opposing candidates Matt King and Emily Besler.

Kansas State University student body president-elect Lucas Maddy, hugs his sister, vice president-elect, Katie Maddy, as they celebrate their victory in the general election Wednesday. The Maddy duo, thought to be the first sibling team to compete, and now to win the election, claimed 53.9 percent of the votes.
