

Congratulations graduates!!!

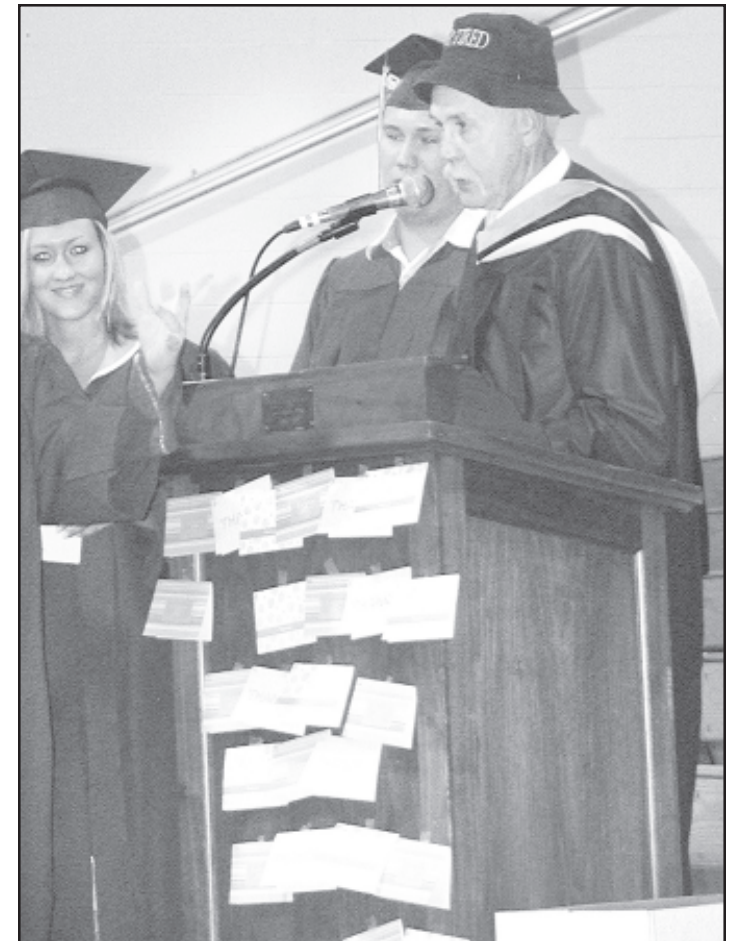

Northern Valley's Brynton Anderson and Emily Zillinger walked up the aisle to take their seats during Saturday's graduation.

Lary Stull, retiring Norton high school principal, found himself seated amongst the graduates while he listened to Greg Mann, school district superintendent, declare that the high school gymnasium was to be named The NCHS Stull Gymnasium.

Husky grad Chad Husted shook hands with Abner Williams after receiving his diploma.

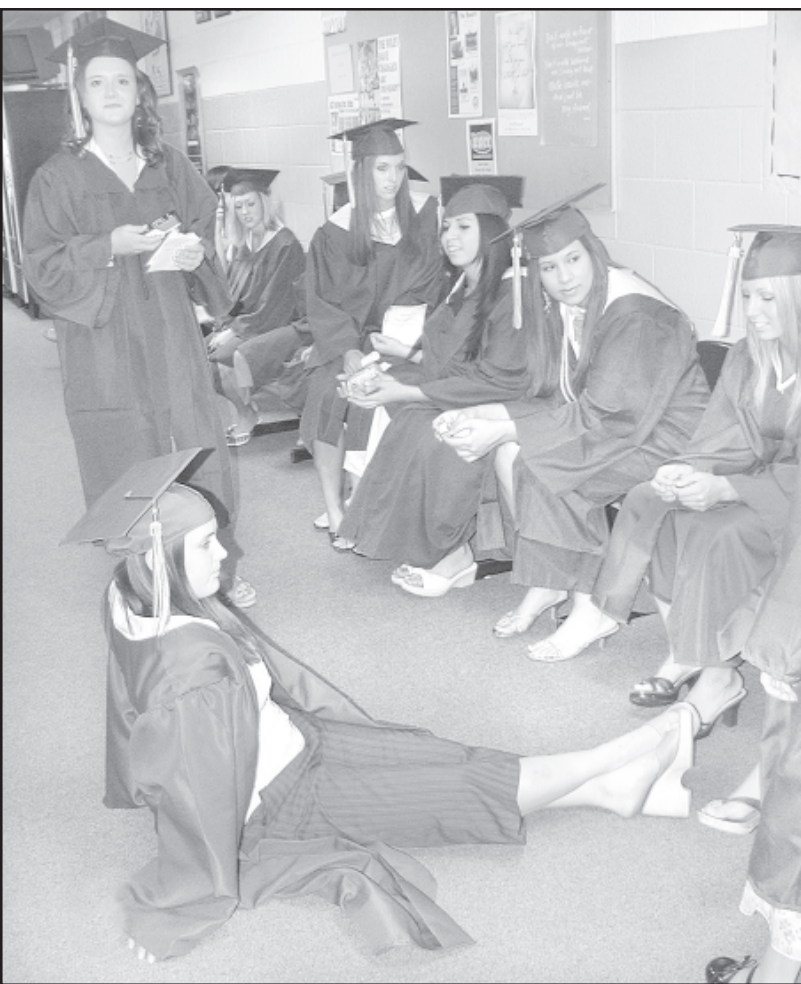

Wearing an out-of-character hat presented to him by a Norton graduating senior, principal Lary Stull called out the names of the Class of 2006.

Northern Valley Counselor Monica Wilson read Cole Kinderknecht's scholarships, while he walked across the stage.

Husky seniors Serena Woodside, Avery Thalheim, Tony Simants, Andrew Sheley, Scott Shearer, Josey Shearer, Clarke Nelson, Zac Miller and Cody Lowry joined the rest of their classmates in facing their parents, clergy and friends, as Abner Williams recognized them for their contribution to the graduates' success.

Cooling their heels before the commencement formalities, these Blue Jay graduates lounged in the school hallway.

Parental paparazzi. Parents of Norton Community High School graduating seniors crowded the stage for one last picture of their daughters and sons after graduation ceremonies Sunday.

Telegram photos by Carolyn Plotts, Veronica Monier and Susie Marble