

Cheerleaders in training...

Public against in-town kennel

(Continued from Page 1) Ms. Kent said she would really doesn't own; it will be inspected every four to six months, at least at first; and yes, she'd be there every day and planned on hiring more help.

Councilman Jerry Jones said it seemed that most people weren't in favor of having the kennel. He said he'd rather keep the majority of people happy, rather than making just one person happy.

Ms. Kent said she understood. But, she said, the city will be losing a business and someone else would have to start it.

Councilwoman Donna Foley, chairwoman of the committee, said she thought it was a great idea, but it needs to be located somewhere else.

City Administrator Rob Lawson said no decision could be made that night, but everyone was welcome to attend Wednesday's council meeting, at 5:30 p.m.

Ms. Kent said she would really be pushing the city law saying people could only own two dogs and would be pushing the nuisance ordinance for barking dogs.

Mr. Lawson said that was her right and, once again, invited her to the council meeting.

Mrs. Foley will make a motion for the ordinance at the council, so that it can be brought up and discussed. The council would decide whether or not to adopt the ordinance.

- The committee also discussed:
- Changing an ordinance dealing with all terrain (ATV) and work vehicles to include allowing ATVs on city streets for general use in addition to work use.
 - Adding a stop sign to an alley.
 - Changing the Police Officer II title to that of Sergeant Detective.
 - The possibility of changing the weed ordinance next year.

(Continued from Page 1) summer and there was a marked improvement in their attitudes and behavior. If he could work with them all year, the improvement would be even greater. He said even if the district decided against adding baseball, he would still like to help the district in some way, working with the kids.

"The most important thing is not winning," he said. "It's getting their grades up and knowing how they need to act. That's more important than baseball or any other sport."

The board did not take any action on baseball at last week's meeting.

Spaghetti supper helps man

The public is invited to a free-will offering spaghetti supper to benefit Jerome Rudolph. The supper will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday at the Norton Senior Center. Mr. Rudolph was injured in a fall Aug. 23 and has been hospitalized since at Good Samaritan Hospital, Kearney.

The event is being sponsored by CrossRoads Church and Thrivent-Aid Association for Lutherans.

Norton added as site for economic conference

Norton will be one of two satellite locations broadcasting this year's Kansas Economic Policy Conference on Thursday, Oct. 11. The conference will be held at the University of Kansas in Lawrence; the other satellite location is in Ulysses.

Norton was just recently added as a satellite location and will be using the video conference facilities at the Northwest Kansas Library System, 2 Washington Square.

Pioneer Communications will host the conference in Ulysses in their Video Conference Room, 129 W. Kansas Avenue. For more information about the conference or to register online, visit www.ipsr.ku.edu/conferen/kepc07/ or call (785) 864-3701.

The conference will emphasize Kansas E3: Energy, the Environment and Economics, which addresses the Kansas E3 challenge: How do we meet the often competing demands of our energy and environmental needs while growing and maintaining a healthy economy? The program includes keynote speeches from regional and national leaders, a panel assessing the impact of energy demands, resources, and climate on Kansas agriculture, the population and environment, and a panel focus on energy and environmental policy affecting the Kansas economic and business climate, now and in the future.

The morning keynote address, "The Increasing National Emphasis on Making Energy Efficient and Renewable," will be given by James L. Spigarelli, president and chief executive officer of Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City, Mo. It will be followed by an assessment of the state of the State with presentations on "Kansas Energy Systems and the Future in a Global Environment," by Tim Carr, formerly with the Kansas Geological Survey and now at the University of West Virginia; "Environmental Impact of Global Warming on the State of Kansas," by Johannes Feddema and Nathaniel Brunzell of the University of Kansas; and "The Impact of Demands for Energy and Environmental Services on Kansas Agriculture," by Charles Rice, Kansas State University.

The luncheon address, "Energy Efficiency: Driving America toward a Healthier Economy, a Cleaner Environment, and Greater Energy Security," will be delivered by Kateri Callahan, president of the Alliance to Save Energy, Washington, D.C. This will be followed by an afternoon panel discussion, "Kansas Energy and Environmental Policy Realities," with discussants at the Ulysses site. Panelists include Richard Brewster, BP America; Clare Gustin, Sunflower Electric Power Cooperative; and, Nick Hatcher, Conestoga Energy Partners, LLC.

Internship applications available

Congressman Jerry Moran has announced that he is accepting applications for congressional internships in his Washington, D.C., Hays, Hutchinson and Salina offices for the spring 2008 term. Applications for the spring are due by Oct. 22.

Intern responsibilities include assisting Congressman Moran and his staff with legislative and administrative projects. The spring internship session begins in January and ends in May. To apply, students should submit a completed application form, cover letter, resumé, college transcript and three letters of reference. The cover letter should explain the student's interest in public service and the goals the student hopes to achieve by participating.

Application forms can be obtained under the Services section of the congressman's website at www.jerrymoran.house.gov/. In order to ensure timely receipt of the application, students are encouraged to fax their applications to (202) 225-5124. If students are unable to fax their applications, they may mail them to his Hutchinson office, Attn: Intern Coordinator, P.O. Box 1128, Hutchinson, Kan. 67504. Students may call (202) 225-2715 with questions or to obtain more information.
