

JENNINGS NEWS

With the scent of spring rain in the air and winds guaranteed to bring on a bad hair day, the Jennings Tuesday Study Club ladies carpooled to Oakley on Feb. 28 for a day of fun and good food. The club meeting was held following a buffet luncheon at the Colonial Steak House. Members answering roll call with “What lights up your life” were Lynn Tacha, Joan McKenna, Joan Metz, Patty Foster, Neoma Tacha, Carla Latimer, Lila Jennings, Paula Krizek, Roberta McAllister, Helen Muirhead, Louise Cressler, Sue Long and Rachel Carter.

For the program, the club members learned about the steps to create cement sculptures and metal cutouts at the Cute As A Button store in Oakley. A stop at the TNT Auction building in Colby provided additional entertainment. Unique furniture, beautiful glassware and dishes, an 1887 Kansas Atlas (Jennings was not on the map), quilts, and designer clothing were some of the items on display for an upcoming auction. Some club members were even caught on camera modeling fur coats. The next club adventure will be on Tuesday, March 27.

Those enjoying card playing at the Sunflower Senior Center on Wednesday, Feb. 29 were Diane Carter, Eleanor Morel, Alice Wagoner, Agnes Wahlmeier, Bob Jones, Carla Latimer, Stan Shaw, Ramona Shaw, Ruth Chance, Wayne Cressler and Louise Cressler.

On Tuesday, March 13 at the Sunflower Senior Center, there will be a carry-in potluck lunch at noon. Following the meal we will play bingo. Bring a bingo prize, please. Everyone is welcome to join us.

Sunday, March 18 the Historic Building Preservation Committee has planned an event to honor Vietnam War veterans and their families at the former Masonic Hall. Wayne Purinton, WaKeeney, a Vietnam veteran and author of “Journey Back from Vietnam,” will speak. The organizers are asking people to share stories, photos and memorabilia from all veterans and their families. Lunch will be served from noon to 1:30 p.m. with the talk to begin at 2 p.m. Free will donations will be taken to help pay for renovations of the old Opera House and Masonic Hall.

A beautiful table with candles, flowers and the birthday cake was the setting for the 90th birthday celebration of Violet Foster Sunday morning at 10 a.m. at the Jennings United Methodist Church. Many attended church at 11 a.m. then the family served lunch to all who wished to stay.

Chris Gillespie and Tom Neff, Marion, visited Friday morning at the home of her parents, Stan and Ramona Shaw.

Jeff and Mary Wahlmeier, rural Clayton, and Stan and Ramona Shaw attended the first birthday party of their grandson and great-grandson, Trenton Wahlmeier, at the home of his parents, Nick and Kerri Wahlmeier, Oberlin. Additional guests included grandparents, Randy and Sharon Olson, Oberlin; great-grandmothers, Eunice Martin, Oberlin and Darlene Feikert, St. Francis; Brent Olson and Molly Coleman, Oberlin; Adam Wahlmeier, Norton; Terry Rehm, Oberlin; Jerry Lahneman and Cam, Colby; Matt and Kristy Ostmeyer and boys, Ellis.

Kevin and Colleen Wagoner, Sharon Springs, visited her parents, Stan and Ramona Shaw Sunday afternoon and were supper guests. Additional guests were Jeff and Mary Wahlmeier, rural Clayton. Kevin and Colleen also visited his parents, Wilfred at the Sheridan County Long Term Care in Hoxie and Alice Wagoner, Jennings.

A puppet affair

Ventriloquist Joe Gandelman visited the Logan Elementary school Tuesday to put on a puppet show for the students. The Bureau of Lectures program was sponsored by the Dane G. Hansen Museum. Pictured, Logan student Morgan Goble helps Gandelman with his show at the school.

CLUB NEWS

By Beverly Kindler

Members of the Heritage Quilt Club are sponsoring displays of quilted items in observance of National Quilt Day on March 17. Quilted items will be displayed at six businesses in Norton.

The first display can be seen at Stitch Up A Storm. There you will find quilts made by Alice Goscha and Jerris McMullen. Table toppers made by Joyce Trumbo and Freda Weyand as well as table runners made by Cheryl Roberts and Lavon McCormack are displayed. Vadis Madden, Jo Pakkebieer and Jan Volgamore have shared wall hangings they have made. A baby quilt made by Carol Otter is part of the display and there is a bed runner made by Beverly Kindler.

As you visit this display check out the interesting color combinations. Also, look for these quilting techniques and designs; x-box, reversible quilted item and trapunto.

Watch for announcements of other displays.

‘Giants’ coming to Hays museum

“Giants: African Dinosaurs,” will open at Fort Hays State University’s Sternberg Museum of Natural History, on Saturday, and will run until Aug. 5.

Project Exploration, a non-profit science education organization, works to ensure that communities traditionally overlooked by science -- particularly minority youths and girls -- have access to personalized experiences with science and scientists.

In expeditions to Niger and Morocco, Dr. Paul Sereno’s team discovered and named several dinosaurs that will be on display. “Jobaria,” a 70-foot-long plant-eater; “Suchomimus,” a fish-eating dinosaur with huge claws and a sail on its back; and the skull of a huge T. Rex-sized meat-eater, “Carcharodontosaurus,” are a few of the displays.
