High school golfer attends tournament

St. Francis senior Jalyn McCaulev is interested in playing high school golf. Because St. Francis does not have a golf team, the St. Francis athletic department with the help of the athletic department in Colby High School formed a cooperative agreement. This allows McCauley to attend meets with the Colby High School golf team during the regular season but when post-season play arrives, McCauley will be the only member playing for St. Francis.

"Most of our tournaments are on Tuesdays or Thursdays," Mc-Cauley said.

'My family enjoys golf, so have been practicing/playing since I was about 5-years-old. I also took part in a junior golf program."

"I think golf is a lot of fun. I really like it and it is something I can do my entire life."

McCauley spent her freshman and sophomore years in Ohio and played on school golf teams. Last year, she played with the Cheylin High School golf team but they do not have golf this year so it was necessary to find a new team.

"She is a good little golfer," said Nate Smith, St. Francis athletic director. "She follows a practice schedule here on non-tournament days and then travels with Colby to tournaments."

Colby plays in the Greater Western Athletic Conference. Mc-Cauley began the year with a first place finish at the Buffalo Dunes tournament in Garden City. She had a 45 for the day. Her last tournament was in Hugoton last week where she placed 10th out of approximately 71 girls. She hit a 50. "Both days were windy," Mc-

Junior high girls have successful evening

"Both seventh and eighth did a great job for the first set of matches this year. They worked hard, did some great things and set their standards high for this season", said Coach Elliott.

"We have things to work on, for example, not standing straight up watching the game but to be down and ready to receive the ball at all times and calling the ball, but this is definitely a good way to start out our
