Letters to the Editor

Letter To The Editor

Some folks might be questioning all the debt talk in Washington, D.C. Others may not know how serious the situation is. We can find out more from a federal government publication.

On page 97 in the 2010 Form 1040 instructions, there is a pie graph showing that the federal government borrowed 40 percent to cover the deficit for the fiscal year 2009.

Let's say that I'm not excited about our federal government borrowing so much. Lenders usually expect repayment and I get very nervous about places like Communist China being a lender to the U.S.A.

I really believe that federal government needs to get lined out and move toward balancing the budget like the general population of the USA. If the government does balance the budget it will affect us all. But it will go a long way toward making things better for the younger and future generations of this nation.
