Several young people and adults have asked, "What was a patent and how did my grandfather or grandmother get one?" It might surprise you the number of single women or widows that acquired patents. One such woman, Miss Etta Lynn, acquired two patents, a "Five-year Proven Up," and a "Timber Claim." She taught in the first private school in 1885 in Bird City on the first floor of the Court house building. She also became the first superintendent of schools in Cheyenne County.

Another surprise might be if you note the very first entry on your land abstract. That could ber. It might even tell you the type of patent.

There are several types of pat-

The "preemption" act of 1841 - A preemption was the right to purchase land before others. The Federal Government had a problem administrating a land law of the public domain during Washington's administration. The problem was how to provide an equitable method of distributing for the purpose of selling it.

land to private owners. The first policy allowed large tracts of land to big interests. A different policy was adopted that allowed the purchase of land for low prices by the sworn in settler.

There were two main methods of securing land in the 1850s:

1. One was by means of Soldiers' Military Bounty Land Warrant. Since 1776 land warrants had been given as a reward to the Nation's soldiers.

2. The land law of 1841 is known as the preemption act. This act provided that the head of a family or widow or single man over 21 years of age could file for 160 acres of public do-

Persons swearing falsely were guilty of perjury according to the law and the perjurer was penalized by both the loss of the land and the money.

The Railroad Act - 1850

This act of 1850 granted to the states alternate sections of public land on either side of the railroad lines and branches to aid in the Construction of certain railroads.

An amendment under the Homestead Act allowed an exsoldier of the Civil War who had served nine months to take 160 acres of land within the limits of a railroad grant whereas all other settlers could only take 80 acres. Sources - Sod House Frontier

Resolution adopted to hold election for mill levy raise

The Cheyenne County Commissioners adopted a resolution authorizing a special election to raise the mill levy to support a nursing home in the county.

Kari Gilliland, county attorney, had prepared the resolution specifying the wording for the ballot in the Aug. 2 election. The ballot with only a yes or no box, asks the question, "Shall the county of Cheyenne County levy a tax not to exceed 6 mills for a home for the aged?"

The resolution was reviewed then by a vote of 2-0, it was

Clerk and election officer, Terry Miller, was instructed to start a special election but, since primary elections are generally held the first Tuesday in August, they thought this would be a good date for this election.

Ryan Murray, emergency manager, had brought in a burn ban resolution which had been adopted in another Kansas county. Attorney Gilliland said she would look it over as well as reviewing another resolution dealing with building permits that will affect the airport runway.

Sheriff Craig Van Allen reported that one of the department's pickups had been damaged and he wanted direction as to whether he should have it repaired as it still was in operating condition. The commissioners told him to get the estimates and have it fixed.

ers the law in the city of Bird City. There is a contract between the county and the city. Sheriff Van Allen said it will soon be time to renew the contract and the commissioners need to be thinking about what arrangements the county will make with the city. He will do a cost-analysis and the commissioners will have some ald houses.

The Family, Community and Education Unit, Kanred, met on Monday, May 9, at the Lebow Manor. There were three members present: Dorthy Mast, Colleen Catic and Wanda Dowdy

Those attending discussed decorating the Greisler Cemetery for Memorial Day this year. It was decided that they should meet at Wanda's house on May 27 at 9 a.m. and all could go together to again decorate this cemetery. Members have taken this on as a project for many, many years.

Colleen presented the lesson for today. It was called "Scraps to Treasures." This was a lesson describing what to do with all the cotton scraps that people don't know what to do with. There were suggestions on projects...draft catchers for doors, scrap quilts for children or homeless, table runners, pin cushions, tissue box covers and purses. There were also directions for each of these suggestions. Then members were also told that they could search other fine suggestions for eye pillows, eye glass covers, book covers, rag rugs, quilted cards, fabric bookmarks, tissue holder for your purse. Colleen gave members the name of one website. It is http://www.tipnut.com/scraphappy-fabric-scr/.

There were also community ser-

 Teach kids to sew and recycle at the same time.

As Colleen started the lesson, she brought articles that she had made out of scraps of materials. One item was a cute purse with many pieces of material sewed together and embellished with old buttons. Another item was a scruff rug that was made with upholstery material on one side and other materials sewed together on the other side. This would be a great rug for everyone to clean their muddy shoes off when coming in from working outside. She brought a pin cushion/ sachet that used scraps of material and old buttons and jewelry. These were really great items to get members to think of how they can recycle their pieces of material.

Members plan to have the next meeting on June 6 at the LeBow Manor at 2 p.m., with LeeAnna Windell teaching the lesson, "An Invitation to Dine." Colleen will Invite youth groups such as be the hostess for the day. Anyone 4-H and scouts to help collect fab- wanting to join the members for this lesson are welcome join them.
