Memorial banner on display

On a recent trip to Nebraska, Rowland and Phyllis Roelfs ran on to a banner honoring 9-11 in a thrift store in Fairbury. They bought the banner with the intent of using it to help people remember this tragic day in history.

ErvaGene DeAragon, center coordinator, hung the banner on the front of the speaker's podium. After the meal on Friday, the banner will be hung in the window.

We just want everyone to remember 9-11, said Mrs. Roelfs, and thought the banner would help do just that!

Historical society programs

Rod Laird, "Grandfather of the modern rebirth of alat use," will speak on Sept. 18 at 4 p.m. in the Old Country Church on U.S. 36. He will be talking about the Megafauna (large animals, mostly now extinct) of the Pleistocene (Ice Age), the Paleoamericans of Cheyenne County who hunted them, the weapon they used (the atlatl), and how a classroom learning activity in a Wyoming middle school became a worldwide sport. Rod plans to bring a Clovis biface found by his Uncle Chase Dunn on South Fork after the great flood of 1935. A biface is a flaked blade of stone that furnished flakes for tool-making. He'll also have lots of tools and artifacts, including atlatls. This presentation is open to everyone interested.

Sunday, Oct. 23, the Historical Society will host Audrey Kalivoda, at the St. Francis Public Library. She will preview her newest DVD, "Kansas, the Center of it All." This event will begin at 2 p.m. with a reception following.

Correction

Wanda Dowdy did not volunteer to serve on the at-large board for the Bird City Senior Center. Ron Hill, who was pictured in last week's Herald, was not a World War II veteran. Pictured with him was Howard Poulignot, who was a World War II vet. Both made the Navy a career.
