After the potluck dinner, a tribute was given to honor the "oldest" cousin, Lucille Price. Her daughter, Sandra Bandel, reviewed the "90" descriptions of Lucille's life (listed by the family along with their "90" purple jelly beans). A sister, Josephine, gave a humorous presentation of "But, I'm not doing anything this year for my birthday." (She noted a number of Lucille's activities.)

Then Lucille presented a bookmark to the 10 oldest living cousins. The bookmark listed the 43 names and birthdays of first cousins.

Sandra explained that her mother wanted to celebrate with her church family with a Sunday potluck dinner in January; but she would enjoy additional family members of the Schlepp reunion. Many traveled a great distance for the time of togetherness. Again, a "Happy Birthday" cake and ice cream were served. Everyone enjoyed the delicious food and visiting.

Christina (Schlepp) Zimbelman and Lena (Schlepp) Miller families were the hostesses.
