Local work groups meeting planned

The Cheyenne County Conservation District board of supervisors will hold a local work group meeting at 1 p.m. on Thursday, June 13, at Pizza Hut, in St. Francis.

The purpose of this meeting is to:

- 1) Get recommendations on payment percentages. Work groups are asked to review all practices and determine if there are practices that could be paid at a 50-percent payment rate.
- 2) To determine if ranking criteria used is acceptable and the quality applications are getting funded.
- 3) To determine if eligible practice lists meeting the needs of the resource concerns and/or eligible practices

"Local work groups are a direct link for local citizens to give their input on federal decisions," said

Bernadette Luncsford, Cheyenne County District Conservationist for the Natural Resources Service..

The responsibilities of the work groups are to use community input to prioritize resources concerns, program funding needs, and conservation practices; recommend conservation program application and funding criteria, eligible practices (including limits on practice payments or units), and payment rates; and assist the Natural Conservation Resources with public outreach and information efforts, and identify educational and producers' training needs.

All county residents are urged to participate.

For more information about local work groups, contact the local office or staff at the service center on west U.S. 36, St. Francis, or call 785-332-2183.
