

Noninsured assistance program deadline near

Alicia Davison, director for the Cheyenne County Farm Service Agency, reminds producers that Sept. 1 is the application closing date for certain crops under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP). Crops eligible for program benefits are limited to those not insurable in the county and are produced for food or fiber.

Sept. 1 is the final date to pay the applicable service fee and obtain the coverage for triticale, barley, rye and wheat for hay or grazing and canola, triticale and rye for grain as well. Crops eligible for the benefits are limited to those not insurable "downtown" in the county, such as forage crops for livestock (mechanically harvested or grazed). Continuous Crop Wheat planted with the intention of harvesting as grain is not eligible for benefits.

The administrative service fee is $250 per crop per administrative county not to exceed $750 per producer per administrative county and a $1,875 maximum fee for multi-county producers. Interested producers must pay the fee and file form CCC-471, Application for Coverage, by the application closing deadline.

This coverage entitles eligible producers to a payment of 55 percent of an average market price for the commodity if a natural disaster caused a 50 percent production loss or greater of an eligible crop.

In the unfortunate event that a producer does suffer a loss on their particular crop, a form CCC-576, Notice of Loss, must be filed with Farm Service Agency within 15 calendar days after the disaster occurrence, or the date the loss becomes apparent to the producer.

Interested producers should contact the office at 785-332-2183 prior to the Sept. 1 application closing date to obtain Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program coverage on the above crops.
