

Cheyenne Fair

The Cheyenne County Fair had many different events including rodeos, Ranch Rodeo for Kids, demolition derby and the parade. These activities found many people participating and in these two pages are just a few photos of some the activities. Top: The swings are always a popular ride at the carnival. Counter clockwise: Tim Baxter was one of the participants in the bronc riding contest; there were quite a few horses and riders in the parade; the swim team kids had a wet float and if there were dry people along the parade route, they were soon cooled off with a bucket of water or a squirt gun. Dorine Zimbelman enjoyed looking at all of the displays in the fair building.

County Days

Gavin Cooper was one of the contestants tying the goat's tail at the Ranch Rodeo. Clockwise: (left to right) Victoria Ingran of Colorado Springs, and Lucas and Nikell Kalb of Yuma were busy little people as they picked up candy thrown by people in the parade. Jeffery Meyers was a winner in the Family and Kid's division. Mickey Graves was one of the Shriners giving kids a balloon. He stopped along the way to give Mason and Issac Schiltz balloons. Both Hal Sager, Bird City, on the drums, and Van Burrus, on the clarinet, were members of the Maverick Band.
