

Craft Show deemed success

The seventh annual Craft Show held at the St. Francis Grade School on Saturday, was deemed very successful. "We had a good turnout of exhibitors and about 400 people attended," said Bonnie Zweygardt, co-coordinator for the event.

Sponsored by the St. Francis Area Chamber of Commerce, the craft show had about the same number of exhibitors but the quality of the crafts was outstanding.

"Each year, the word is spread that we have good quality crafts for sale and it draws people from all over the area," said Tammy Grice, co-coordinator.

Businesses gave lots of prizes and door prizes were drawn regularly all day. Lacey Reed, St. Francis, won the Chamber's gift basket.

The Kids Korner, where children can spend time making crafts and ornaments, was busy most of the day. This Korner allows parents to shop the show while their children are keeping busy doing something constructive.

Lunch was served by the Chamber and a number of organizations held bake sales, pecan sales and candle sales. The Kettle Korn booth was set up outside and the steam and aroma lured people to purchase the bagged corn before going home.

Show to the many people who exhibit and especially to the people who have volunteered their time and energy," said Mrs. Zweygardt.

Next year's show will once again be held the first Saturday in November. And, next year, there should be even more exhibitors as there were five or six people who were not able to attend the show this year.

"Several of our exhibitors said that the St. Francis show is one of the best craft shows they attend as they make good money and are treated so well by those hosting the show and the business people," Mrs. Zweygardt concluded.

ENJOYING the Kid's Korner at the Holiday Craft Show was Madi, 2-1/2 year old daughter of Derrick and Heidi Tice.

St. Francis Bethel 52 entertains guests

Bethel 52 of the International Order of Job's Daughters entertained the Grand Guardian Pam Henderson and Associate Grand Guardian Tim Stuck on Saturday evening, Nov. 2 at the Masonic Hall. There were also visiting Job's Daughters from Kansas City, Leavenworth, Newton and Abinene.

After the meeting they ate at the Pizza Hut and then returned to the Masonic Hall for games, a taffy pull and making popcorn balls. The slumber party was a great time for getting to know other Bethel members and the leaders.

Doughnuts and juice were enjoyed by all at the early hour of 6:30 a.m. The visiting young women had to be in Abilene by 1 p.m. to participate in the initiation of six new members. Bethel 52 truly enjoyed the visit of the guests.

Bethel 52 has several projects underway hoping to earn enough money to be able to attend the Supreme Session next July in Chicago. They are now selling fresh Christmas wreaths, decorated for you which will be delivered the weekend after Thanksgiving. Contact any Job's Daughter if interested.

Lawn Ridge 4-H Club

Lawn Ridge 4-H Club
The November meeting of the Lawn Ridge 4-H Club was called to order by Miranda Teeters, vice president, on Nov. 3. The flag salute was led by Brooks Hobrock. Eleven members and one leader answered roll call to "What Are Your Thanksgiving Plans?" Chance Hobrock gave the treasurer's report. Megan Ford, acting secretary, read a letter from Helen and Vern Shoemaker.

Miriam Yonkey gave a committee report pertaining to the Christmas party. Megan Ford, council representative, reminded member of the officers training sessions to be held on Nov. 4 and Nov. 11.

In old business it was voted to donate to the Cheyenne County Drug Dog Fund. In new business members voted to have the Christmas party on Dec. 8. First they will go caroling and hang Christmas ornaments at the Good Samaritan Village. Members also voted to tag Christmas trees and to buy a gift for one girl and one boy for the Angel Tree. The club members also voted to collect food for the Food Pantry on Nov. 29. After much discussion members voted to have Arts and Crafts and Food's as the club projects this year.

Miranda Teeters next introduced the following program: Kattie Ford informed the members on what should be recorded in the minutes. Brooks Hobrock gave a project talk on "How To Care For A Market Steer" and Logan Whitmore gave a project talk on "The Parts of A Rabbit."

Following the program for the afternoon, Sarah Whitmore led the club in saying the 4-H Pledge.

Meeting adjourned and members enjoyed refreshments served by the Ford and Teeters families.
