

Summer photos too good to pass by

Oh, the lazy, hazy days of summer

Kid's are great and through the spring and summer there were numerous opportunities for great snaps of kids but not space to use them. These are just a few photos which The Herald staff thought were too cute to not be printed.

Top right, Preston Witzel was patiently waiting while his mother Robin buys his cotton candy. Clockwise: Emma Johnson was waiting for her sisters at a Dance Ranch practice. One of these days, she will be on the dance line with them. Cassidy Busse hugs her cousin Ellie Krien at a preschool party. Molly Gilliland looks like she is reading the nutrients on the label. Grace Lambert was not happy and wanted to go home
