Club News

ROTARY

President Brian Staats presided on Aug. 14. Guests were Zane Winger, Michael Tubbs, Jeff Wagoner, and Jay Hawk. The club members and guests sang a few songs.

The club president is pleased to have the new members Bill Biel, Jeff Jennings, and Scott Gaywith. This will help to meet International expectations for all Rotary Clubs.

Mark Winger read the minutes of the last meeting. Nancy LePell read the treasure's report. Brian distributed the budget report for the next year, and went over the budget.

Mystery greeter was Kirk Nielsen. Jay Hawk was the winner of the free car wash from Quick Lube.

Les Brown's program was on membership. He handed out team assignment packets. The packets had information on the new club requirement for the membership drive. It told who is eligible to be a member and what is expected of a club member.

The Rotary Board has scheduled an evening meeting (Membership Organizational Meeting) on Aug. 28. Members are asked to invite prospective members to hear District Governor Dale Bright and guest speaker John Garcia's input on the membership drive. Members are asked to each bring a guest. Reservations need to be in this week for this event.

BREWSTER PRAIRIE GEM

What do two White, 44 Red, 154 Blue, 95 Purple, 22 Reserve Champion, and 27 Grand Champion ribbons mean to 32 members of the Brewster Prairie Gem 4-H Club? A successful Thomas County Fair as they exhibited in 20 projects!

Members had steers, heifers, bucket calves, pigs, and lambs in the livestock barns. Most of the members with livestock also entered showmanship. In the 4-H building members had entries in the following categories: entomology, notebooks, gardening, foods, geology, arts and crafts, clothing, woodworking, railroad, mini booths, photography, welding, posters, demonstrations, and public speaking. Small animals included dogs, rabbits, and chickens.

Twenty-six of the members received at least one reserve or grand champion ribbon. Those receiving champion ribbons will be listed below. (Following the member's name the level of exhibition by age will be given in parenthesis: N = novice, J = junior, I = intermediate, and S = senior.) GC = Grand Champion, RC = Reserve Champion.

(Listing of the individual ribbons was a task and I apologize to any fellow member if I have made errors.)

The club booth was designed and constructed by the Brian Eicher family. Thanks to Brian, Sherrie, Michael and Stefanie for a job well done. Their efforts provided the club with a grand champion ribbon.

Reminder to fellow members: Your project year is not finished until you complete your record book!!

Teen asks peers to save sex for marriage

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-age girl, and I'd like to offer some advice to other teens before they decide to have sex. Besides the possibility of getting pregnant or a sexually transmitted disease (STD), here are three reasons to remain a virgin:

1. When you get married, you want to be faithful to your spouse, right? Well, if you have sex now, you are already cheating on your future spouse.
2. Even though there are different kinds of contraceptives to choose from, none of them can protect your emotions. When you have sex, you become emotionally entangled with the other person. That's why it hurts so much if you break up. Sex should be part of a lifelong commitment.
3. Sex doesn't mean love. If your date doesn't respect your wishes not to have sex, he or she doesn't love you.

Abby, please print this. I'm so sick of my friends and classmates getting hurt by having sex.

EAST COAST TEEN-AGER
DEAR EAST COAST TEEN-AGER: You have listed some convincing reasons for putting off having sex until marriage. I have heard from many teens over the years who said they wished they had waited. My reply to them is that just because a person has had sex doesn't mean she (or he) must continue to do so if it feels like it's doing something wrong. This is a debate that has gone on during the entire lifetime of this column. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I recently found a clipping from one of your old columns. I think it is worth repeating:

Some may consider me old-fashioned, but I wish one of my granddaughters had followed this advice before it was too late.

GRANDMA IN THE MIDWEST

DEAR GRANDMA: That little jingle is certainly worth reprinting. Regardless of how old it is, it contains some hard truth. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm a guy, 18, and I have something to say to girls who sleep around. They may think they are "hot stuff," but they should hear what is said about them in the locker room. These poor girls think it is flattering to be sought out — that it is a compliment to have sex. Not so! It is cheap and degrading to be used. I wouldn't want my two sisters talked about like that.

Abby, I think there should be classes to teach girls not to throw themselves away like this.
