ing; at 1 p.m. the Brewster Bridge Club met in the small dining room with Teresa Ashenbrenner as hostess. Don Crumbaker won high at their meeting.

At 2 p.m. Eileen Dible hosted the Rexford Social Hour Club in the Activity Room with 11 present.

Jeanette Dible was a guest. Grace Cheney won the hostess gift. It was an afternoon of fun, playing bingo, visiting and enjoying the delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

The District meeting of the Avon sales ladies was held in the Activities Room on Thursday afternoon.

Several ladies from Fairview attended the World Day of Prayer held at the Catholic Church Friday morning.

The Pi Gamma Sorority held a quilt display at their meeting Friday afternoon and the residents were invited to attend. Different ladies showed some of the beautiful quilts they had made. Mrs. Evans from Oakley who teaches quilting in different towns brought many quilts, wall hangings and table runners to show. Many of her pieces were handmade and hand-quilted, some were appliquéed and some were friendship quilts. It was a beautiful display. Katie Currier was the hostess for the meeting and served refreshments to the ladies.

Pete Morrison and Mary B. Grady were among those who attended the concert, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" given at the high school auditorium Thursday evening.

Irene Kehlbeck entertained Mary B. Grady, Pete Morrison and Russell Childers with a dinner in her apartment Saturday evening.

Lucile Long and Ardis Boersma were pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Radeen Wright visit them on Sunday afternoon.

Carol Haselhorst and her daughter, Susan McLemore enjoyed dinner at the Quality Inn on Sunday.

Margaret McEvoy of Oberlin visited Erik and Jean Erickson Sunday afternoon.

Joanne Kay (Stover) Stone

Joanne Kay (Stover) Stone passed away March 7, 2004, from complications of lupus. Joanne was born December 5, 1941, in Hutchinson, Kansas, the daughter of Gerald and Thais Stover. She grew up in Colby, Kansas, where she graduated from high school in 1959. As a teenager, she was active in Kayettes, which she served as an officer, Future Homemakers of America, Glee Club, and band, in which she played the saxophone. She was also a class officer and helped initiate the Future Teachers of America Club at Colby High School. Her college preparatory curriculum led to a Watkins Scholarship at the University of Kansas. She also held a U.G. Mitchell Scholarship and was selected for membership in Pi Mu Epsilon, a math honor society. Graduating Phi Beta Kappa, she received degrees in German and mathematics in 1963.

During her time at K.U. she was a member of Chi Omega, which she served as president her senior year. She was also named to the Owens Honor Society as a sophomore, served on the University Senate Board of Standards, was a representative to All Women Students, and was vice-president of Mortarboard. In recognition of her outstanding record of academics and activities, she was named a Hilltopper by the Jayhawker yearbook staff.

After graduation, she worked as a computer programmer for IBM and then the Shawnee Mission public schools. Subsequently, she was employed as a systems analyst for Flight Planning at TWA/American Airlines, a position she loved and held for twenty-two years. During that time, she was honored on several occasion for outstanding contributions to the company, including the TWA award of Excellence (1982, 1997) and special recognition from Flight Operations in 1996. This position also fostered her love of travel and led to lifelong friendships. She retired from the airline in 2002.

Joanne's activities in the Kansas City community revolved around her church Rolling Hills Presbyterian, where she served as a deacon, circle leader, and choir and book club member. She was also a former president of Chapter FV of the P.E.O. sisterhood and was treasurer at the time of her death. As an advocate for lupus research and support, she served on the board of the Kansas City of the Lupus Foundation of America and worked tirelessly to assist other lupus patients. Other organizations which benefited from Joanne's talents and time included the Junior League of Kansas City, Missouri and the Chi Omega Alumnae Club.

Joanne loved traveling with family and friends to places all around the world. She also enjoyed scrapbooking her trips, sewing, gardening, and sharing stories with her grandsons -- especially tales of tornadoes in western Kansas. She was a lifelong avid Jayhawk fan and attended both football and basketball games for many years.

Joanne's family included her late husband of 39 years, S. Terrence Stone, who passed away last March, and their two daughters, Sara and Lisa. Sara and her husband, Keith Harrison, live in San Diego with sons Brendon and Carter. Lisa and her husband, Patrick Butler, reside in Olathe with their sons Jackson and Samuel. Joanne is also survived by her mother-in-law, Esther Stone, of Prairie Village; a sister, Carol McWilliams, of Shaker Heights, Ohio; and a brother, John Stover, of Lawrence.

The family will receive visitors 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, March 10, at D.W. Newcomer's Sons Johnson County Chapel, 11200 Metcalf. A memorial service will be 11 a.m. Thursday, March 11, at Rolling Hills Presbyterian Church, 9300 Nall, cremation. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial gifts to the Lupus Assistance Fund / Joanne Stone Memorial, 1012 A Main St., Grandview, MO 64030.
