

Chiefs player ready for action

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Two weeks after undergoing surgery to restore circulation in his leg, Kansas City Chiefs quarterback Trent Green pronounces himself 100 percent fit.

"I feel really good," he said Thursday. "It's amazing how quick the turnaround has been, how quickly it came back."

Doctors implanted a stent in an artery after conducting a battery of tests to learn why he was experiencing numbness in the left leg and foot. The surgery was performed on Aug. 30 and required an overnight hospital stay.

When the Chiefs played St. Louis in their final preseason game on Sept. 2, Green missed a start for the first time since he was acquired from the Rams in 2001.

"I haven't had any muscle soreness. My foot feels fine," he said. "It's really amazing how quickly it recovers."

He was taken off blood thinners

this week and will no longer require them.

"I'll be fine, ready to go," he said. "I took every snap (Wednesday), every drill the first unit ran. I'm taking everything today. I haven't had any setbacks."

Green may feel great, but questions remain about the overall state of an offense that has been hobbled by aches and pains throughout the preseason. The top unit actually worked together in the four exhibition games only a few snaps. Green played only the first two series in the Chiefs' third preseason game, and was not even at the stadium for the fourth.

Most of the quarterbacking in those two games was done by emergency backup Jonathan Quinn, who was released on cut-down day.

When the Chiefs host the New York Jets on Sunday, will rust stain an offense that in each of the past three years has finished no worse than No. 2 overall in the NFL?

"I think everybody feels real comfortable," Green said. "When we've all been together as a group, we've been able to move the ball, put points up on the board, convert third downs. I think everybody feels real comfortable with where we are."

Also missing practice time have been Pro Bowl linemen Will Shields and Willie Roaf, Pro Bowl tight end Tony Gonzalez and running back Priest Holmes.

"Nine of the 11 guys have pretty much been together going on four years. I think everybody feels real good where we are," Green said. "I feel good with where the timing is."

Coach Dick Vermeil admits he's worried about a slow start.

"I'm concerned about our passing attack. I'm concerned about being able to all of the sudden jump in high gear when we've been driving in second gear," he said.

The Chiefs' high-scoring offense, which led the NFL last season by piling up an average of 418.4 yards, will be facing a tough early test from a Jets defense that was No. 7 overall, and No. 5 against the rush.

Rushing the ball is one of the things the Chiefs do especially well. They averaged 143.1 yards on the ground and in one game, against Atlanta, set an NFL record with eight rushing touchdowns.

"That's going to be a great test for both sides," Green said. "We take a lot of pride in our run game and they take a lot of pride in their run defense. So that's going to be kind of a marquee matchup in terms of how this game goes."

Royals beat Sox at home

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie J.P. Howell did something no other Kansas City pitcher has been able to accomplish this season. He beat the Chicago White Sox in their home ballpark. Howell and three relievers combined on a two-hitter Thursday night as Kansas City stopped Chicago's seven-game winning streak with a 4-2 victory.

"We don't mail it in ever. Whatever is driving these guys to finish the season we just need to do that for another three weeks," Royals manager Buddy Bell said.

In his third start since his recall from the minors, Howell switched speeds and allowed two hits in six strong innings. One of the runs he yielded came on Pablo Ozuna's steal of home.

The Royals were 0-8 at Chicago this year before winning in their final road game against the White Sox this season. Kansas City is 3-12 against the White Sox overall.

"It wasn't like it was easy, they didn't hand it to us," Howell said. "We are playing a lot better than how we were before. We are trying to figure it out."
