Events, activities scheduled

Fall activities are now in full swing. Women's Aglow Fellowship will be meeting in Colby on Friday,

The 6th Annual Ogallala Commons Fall Conference and Field Day Tours will be held Friday and Ogallala Commons covers seven states from Texas to South Dakota.

We look forward to hosting both groups. Leilani will be attending the State Tourism Conference in Manhattan Oct. 9-12. We look forward to an informational meeting.

The quarterly calendar of events has been printed covering the months of October, November and Copies are available at the Chamber Office, most banks, motels, city and county offices, Pioneer Memorial Library and Prairie Museum.

Numbers of travelers stopping at the Colby Visitor Center has dropped since the beginning of school, but there are still many coming. Volunteers hear over and over what a wonderful facility we have, how hospitable our community is and the cleanliness of both the cen-

In the same vein, we recently 2005 class wrote some very complimentary things about our community. We will share selected excerpts from three pages of single typed testimonial."...we now understand here because they choose to be.

These are people with a frontier spirit and independence who have embraced the heritage of this area, equally, the opportunities that Colby provides. The folks of Colby openly. They have taken ownership of these issues and are creatively lives around them.

There is the feeling here that the "Oasis on the Plains".

people work together in cooperative ways that many large communities would do well to emulate, and many would envy. in a large sense people here are living on the edge, with very small margins, and they understand that they cannot waste anything. They are resourceful and they do not complain.

The people of Colby and northhosted Leadership Kansas. The western Kansas have made definite choices about living here. How do young adults make the decision to stay here, passing up the more diverse opportunities of the wider world? What is it like living in a clicompletely that people living in mate where the harshness of winter Colby and the surrounding areas are and summer are relentless and a test of endurance? It seems fairly clear that the answer to such considerations is that there is so much more to be gained from life in Colby and who recognize the challenges and, northwestern Kansas than there is to be paid."

There was so much more shared, face their issues honestly and but sometimes it takes outsiders to remind us that we live in a very special location where friends and finding ways to integrate happy, full neighbors care about one another and their surroundings. We truly are
