

HALLOWEEN

FOR THE YOUNG AND YOUNG AT HEART

Aubrey Nickols, a receptionist at Colby Medical and Surgical Center, along with other receptionists at the front desk were dressed in pajamas for Halloween on Monday.

Employees at Colby Medical and Surgical Center dressed for Halloween. BACK ROW: (left to right) Cindy Theimer, LPN; Tammy Foster, medical assistant; Sharon Leikam, medical assistant; Dr. Victor Hildyard, family practice physician (the Dr. Hildyard impersonator was actually Sam Grove, chief financial officer); Nancy Arendt, LPN; and FRONT ROW: (left to right) are Patti Stephens, Cortney Beims and Tasha Cooper all registered nurses, but on Halloween were nuns.

Linda Tubbs, (left), Joe Guilfoyle and Margaret Kummer, employees at Citizens Medical Center, all dressed up for Halloween. The staff celebrated with a party Monday morning.

TOP: Alexis Bowers, PuddleDuck Preschool, was out visiting many businesses as part of preschool activities. LEFT: Susan Guill dressed up as a skunk for Halloween. She works in the clerk's office at the Thomas County Courthouse.

Left to right: Larry Brenn, Stephanie Wieland, Marla Wozniak, and Karen Parks bewitched customers Halloween Day at Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Michelle Westfall (right) and Traci Collins, employees at the branch office of Farmers and Merchants Bank inside Dillons, were dressed as bank bandits for Halloween.

Photos
by
Colby
Free Press
staff

Sherrie and Brent Wiedeman with son, Bryant, as Tigger.

Lori Wicks (left) and her sister 'Genafur' Jumper showed off their Halloween spirit Monday. Wicks was dressed as a corpse bride and Jumper was a fairy cat.