Colby High School cheerleaders lined up during one of their routines during the 2006 Orange and Black Classic tournament. The tournament starts today and runs through Saturday with the championship games at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the Colby Community Building. Teams and fans can also win a variety of sportsmanship and spirit awards. Colby opens play against Scott City. The Eagle girls play at 6:30 p.m. at the Colby Communit Building, the boys at 8:15 p.m. at CHS.

Trojan women fall at Cloud

The Colby Community College women’s basketball team (7-12, 3-2) kept the game close against one of the premiere teams in the nation, but in the end No. 4-ranked Cloud County pulled away for the 89-68 victory.

Colby trailed by just four points at halftime, but in the later stages of the second half, Cloud managed to stretch out the lead.

Jamie Schroeder led the Trojans with 14 points, and also contributed six rebounds.

Also in double figures were Sandra Sormaz with 13 points and Erin Goodhue with 11 points.

The Lady Trojans complete a three-game road trip Saturday at Hutchinson, before returning home to face Barton County on Saturday, Jan. 27.

Colby men lost 57-50 Wednesday at Cloud County. Game statistics were not available by press time today.

SportsBriefs

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Marty Schottenheimer will return as coach of the San Diego Chargers next season, but turned down a one-year extension for 2008 worth $4.5 million.

Team president Dean Spanos ended three days of speculation when he said in a statement that the embattled coach will be back for the final year of his contract.

There had been speculation following Sunday’s 24-21 loss to the New England Patriots that Schottenheimer might be fired due to his icy relationship with general manager A.J. Smith.

OWINGS MILLS, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Ravens extended coach Brian Billick’s contract following the best season in franchise history.

Billick’s current contract was to last through 2007 and his future with the team was in doubt after a disappointing 2005 season. But the team went 13-3 before being eliminated from the playoffs Saturday with a 15-6 loss to the Indianapolis Colts.

STEROIDS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The federal prosecutor who has led the high-profile BALCO steroids investigation announced he’s stepping down.

Kevin Ryan, U.S. attorney for California’s Northern District, has handled the probe into the Bay Area Laboratory Co-Operative, the lab at the center of a doping scandal that has touched some of sports’ biggest stars.

The BALCO case has resulted in five guilty pleas, and a federal grand jury is investigating whether slugger Barry Bonds perjured himself when he told a 2003 grand jury he hadn’t knowingly taken any performance-enhancing drugs.

Bulldog girls win

Eight different Golden Plains girls scored as the Lady Bulldogs defeated Triplains 64-34 Tuesday in Winona.

With the win Golden Plains raised its record to 9-1 on the year.

Katelyn Spresser tallied 16 points and Kendra Spresser added 14 for the Bulldogs. Britt Ritter and Amanda Rall each scored nine points and Liz Staats had seven.

Rounding out the scoring for Golden Plains, Aisha Walter had six, Angel Lobato two and Karly Miller had one.

Golden Plains will face Brewster 6:30 p.m. Friday in Rexford.

Wildcats’ late surge leads to win

MANHATTAN (AP) — It’s bound to happen someday because Baylor is making obvious improvement by leaps and bounds. But nobody wants to be the first Big 12 team in more than two years to lose at home to the Bears.

Kansas State went on a frightful scoring drought and seemed a likely candidate Wednesday night, missing its first 15 shots in the second half.

The Bears, getting almost nothing from their foul-plagued leading scorer, grabbed a 51-40 lead when Henry Dugat capped a 12-1 spree with a three-point play.

But the Wildcats stayed calm and hit six of their next seven and finally emerged with a hard-fought 69-60 victory over the youthful Bears, who have lost 19 straight conference games on the opponent’s home court.

“Credit Kansas State for making big plays down the stretch,” said Baylor coach Scott Drew. “I think the last 10 minutes showed which team has the seniors and juniors and which team had the freshmen and sophomores.”

David Hoskins and Lance Harris led the second-half comeback, which tied for the biggest so far in Bob Huggins’ first year as head coach.

“We went on a drought there for 10 minutes not scoring the ball and they went on a run, and we knew we had to dig ourselves out of it,” said Cartier Martin, who had 15 points for the Wildcats (12-6, 2-2 Big 12).

“We just had to put the ball in the hole and get the offense going and try to get to the free throw line and get some easy points. We knew the game wasn’t over, so were going to fight, especially on the home court. Guys just dug in, and we made plays.”

The Wildcats had shot 55 percent in a first half, which ended in a 39-all deadlock.

Then the first few minutes of the second half Kansas State missed just about every conceivable shot — short ones, long ones, uncontested 6-footers and attempted layups when a defender swooped in.

“We missed a lot of shots,” Huggins said. “They blocked some. They made some good defensive plays. But our movement wasn’t very good. We wanted to come out and run motion, but our movement wasn’t very good.”

The Wildcats finally went ahead 59-58 on Martin’s 3-pointer with 5:07 left.

After Aaron Bruce drew nothing but air on a 3-point attempt, Hoskins hit a free throw and rebounded Bruce’s miss and Harris went in for a layup and a 62-58 Kansas State advantage.

The Bears (11-6, 1-3) got only two points and five rebounds from Rogers, their 6-9 sophomore who had been averaging 16.7 points and 9.7 rebounds in Big 12 play.

He fouled out with 3:15 left as the Bears lost for the 31st time in their last 33 true road games, a streak that dates back to Dec. 30, 2004. Baylor has lost 19 straight Big 12 road games.

“When you’ve got one inside scorer, and you don’t have him, it makes a big difference,” said Drew. “Sometimes you’ve got to knock before you enter. We’re getting close, so the good thing is, hopefully we’ll enter sometime.”

Harris had 18 points for Kansas State, Hoskins had 13 and Clent Stewart had 12, including a contested layup that put Kansas State on top 65-60.

Dugat had 15 and Bruce 13 for Baylor.

After Stewart muscled in for his bucket, Hoskins added four free throws on two separate trips to the line, giving the Wildcats their second straight win.

“Offensively, we started to make shots and defensively we started to make stops,” said Stewart. “It got to the point that not only did we miss shots, but they came down and started making theirs.”

Dugat capped Baylor’s spree with a follow shot underneath and a breakaway basket after Bruce made a long pass across court on his knees.

Fouled by Harris, Dugat made the free throw and the Bears had a double-digit lead with Rogers having spent most of the game on the bench with foul trouble.

“It’s a big loss, but at the same time it’s a learning experience,” said Dugat. “This is one we really needed right here. We’ve just got to learn to close out games.”

Rogers picked up his third foul with 9:03 left in the first half and went to the bench. He went back to the bench with foul No. 4 early in the second half and did not score until hitting a short jumper with 8:38 to play, putting the Bears on top 53-46.

The Wildcats shot only 44 percent for the game and forced only 12 turnovers after averaging more than 19 the previous 10 games.

“I was really happy for these guys because they need that,” said Huggins.
