Royals to start season

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Some of the most high-profile additions either team has ever had will be in uniform when the Boston Red Sox and Kansas City Royals open their season today. Curt Schilling, the veteran All-Star right-hander, will oppose Kansas City's Gil Meche, whose five-year, $55 million free agent contract set a Royals record. Manning third base for the Royals will be rookie Alex Gordon, last season's minor league player of the year and Kansas City's most highly touted prospect since Carlos Beltran. Ready to make his much-anticipated American debut on Thursday will be right-hander Daisuke Matsuzaka, who cost Boston more than $100 million and will have about 125 Japanese media chronicling his every move. The Red Sox, third last year in the AL East after eight consecutive second-place finishes, also will have an expensive newcomer in right field in veteran J.D. Drew, and their 13th different opening day second baseman in 14 years in Dustin Pedroia. "Opening day is 24 hours away," Boston manager Terry Francona said Sunday as the Red Sox went through a light workout. "If you're not optimistic, you're crazy. But I think we have a legitimate reason to be optimistic. We think we've got a pretty good team." Schilling, who also had a good spring, will be hoping to erase memories of his start in Kansas City last Aug. 10, when he lost 5-4 after giving up an AL record-tying 10 extra-base hits.

Pitcher sent to Oregon

According to the San Francisco Giants web site, Colby's Jared Cranston has been assigned to pitch for the Salem-Keizer Volcanoes, the Giants' single-A minor league team in Keizer, Ore. Cranston, 21, was drafted by the Giants. Cranston played college baseball at Seward County and the University of Nebraska. Cranston graduated from Colby High School in 2003. The Volcanoes play in the Northwest League which includes eight teams from Idaho, Oregon and Washington. The team won the league in 2006. Salem-Keizer's season starts June 19.

Trojans show strength in tournament

The Colby Community College softball team went 3-2 at the Johnson Tournament Saturday and Sunday in Overland Park. The Trojans defeated Kansas City, Kan., Community College, Kirkwood, Mo., and Brown Mackie. The Trojans lost in extra innings to Cowley County and also lost to Jefferson, Mo. "We started to play more consistent," Colby coach Ryan Sturdy said. "This weekend should have given us some confidence since we played three ranked teams and competed in each of those games. If we come out with intensity we can play with anyone in the nation." The Trojans defeated Kansas City Community College 8-7 as Ninostka Amaro went 2-3 with two RBIs and three runs scored. Kari Panno picked up the win for the Trojans by allowing two earned runs over 4 2/3 innings. Amy Foster recorded the save by allowing no earned runs over the final 2 1/3 innings. The Lady Trojans lost to Cowley 8-11 in nine innings. Amy Foster went all nine innings for the Trojans, and allowed five earned runs on 14 runs. Cowley capitalized on six unearned runs. Chloe Jackson was 3-5 at the plate with a home run, a double and two RBIs. Kari Panno pitched a complete game in the Trojans 3-2 victory over Kirkwood. Panno allowed just two runs, one earned, in seven innings. Jackson was 2-3 for the Trojans and Amanda Slate was the offense for the Trojans, hitting a three run home run. Jefferson defeated the Trojans 8-0 in five innings. The Trojans only had two hits in the game, one by Kaylie Gomez and the other by Courtney Duell. Amy Foster was the pitcher of record for the Trojans, giving up 8 runs in 4 1/3 innings. Kari Panno pitched a complete game shutout in Colby's 1-0 victory over Brown Mackie. Panno allowed just two hits in seven innings and struck out eight batters. Amanda Slate was 2-3 for the Trojans, who had seven hits overall. The Lady Trojans are 9-18. "I feel the Lady Trojans are starting to play well at the right time of the season with region games coming up in their schedule," Sturdy said. The Trojans play Garden City 3 p.m. Wednesday at Carl Adams field.
