Hospital holding seminar on coping with arthritis

A free, educational seminar on “Aging, Agility and Arthritis” will be held from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Citizens Medical Center Tuesday, May 29. This come-and-go seminar will take place in the nationally touring Zimmer Mobile Learning Center. The expandable Mobile Learning Center houses a complete self-supporting training/educational facility that focuses on training and education for orthopedic professionals as well as to conduct community seminars on arthritis-related topics. Health professionals including: Mekki Saba, Orthopedic Surgeon, his staff, and professionals from the Zimmer National Mobile Learning Center will discuss arthritis, the leading cause of chronic disability in the U.S. It affects one in seven people, particularly the elderly. Arthritis refers to more than 100 types of diseases that cause pain, stiffness and swelling from the inflammation of a joint or the area around joints. Because there is no cure for this debilitating disease, and the cause of arthritis is still an enigma, it leaves many arthritis sufferers confused. In this seminar, attendees will hear the latest scientific knowledge about this chronic disease, including how diet and exercise affect arthritis, and topics such as aging, pain and medication and joint replacement. A self-assessment quiz will enable every attendee to gauge whether or not they should consider seeking the advice of a physician for their pain. Attendees will be able to pick up patient fliers which provide information on arthritis-related topics including: diet, exercise, questions and answers, medication and joint replacement. “We are pleased to provide up-to-date, medical information to people suffering from or concerned about arthritis. It’s a chance for arthritis patients to find out the best ways they can cope with the disease so they can stay active well into their older years,” said Janice McCart President and Chief Executive Office, CMCI. For information on the seminar, or to reserve a place, please call (675) 460-1214. The seminar is supported as a service by Zimmer, Inc., a world leader in the design, manufacture and distribution of orthopedic implants, related equipment and supplies. For more information, call 1-800-HIP-KNEE or visit them at www.zimmer.com.
