Pasta benefit brings towns together

Many people turned out for the Lincoln Stramel benefit Sunday evening at the United Methodist Church in Winona as a joint effort with the Lutheran Church. The pasta buffet was delectable. Chatting with friends and neighbors contributed to the merits of the day. People came from St. Francis, Tribune, Colby, Oakley and the Winona area communities.

Topics of conversations are as variable as the conversationalists themselves. Typical of one, in a gathering recently, was when one of the elders turned up wearing a new hearing aid. A friend asked him about it and he said it was the best one money could buy, costing several thousand dollars. The friend said, “My, that must be a good one. What kind is it?” “Half past four,” he replied, glancing at his watch.

Anne Lowe attended the induction ceremony at Manhattan High School. Her granddaughter, Audrey

Clubs hold combined meeting

Colby Shakespeare Club met at Meadow Lake restaurant for lunch for their May 4, 2007, meeting. President Ruth Lowenthal asked Jane Bandy to ask the blessing.

The business meeting was conducted by President Ruth Lowenthal. Kathy Calliham reminded members that Shakespeare Club will celebrate their 100th anniversary in October.

Ballots were tallied for voting on a name for the combined clubs of Shakespeare, Pi Gamma, and Sorosis.

Joyce Hansen installed the officers for the coming year. She presented the retiring officers with a red carnation and presented the incoming officers with a white carnation. The new officers installed are: President-Kathy Calliham with members assisting her, Secretary-Lois Van Horn, Treasurer-Phyllis Elliott, Scrapbook Chairman and Reporter-Jane Bandy.

Meeting adjourned and members had time to go to the college for Jeannie Thyfault’s retirement party.

Keller, was inducted into the honor society.

LaVonne Baxter accompanied Karen Baxter and Linda and a friend, Rachael, all of Garden City, to Wichita over the weekend to see Jasmine Packard.

Kyle Gfeller turned 12 years old and celebrated with a family dinner hosted by his family, Dennis, Jana, Kara and Eric Gfeller. Attending the birthday party were grandparents David and Judy Gfeller and Marsha Johnson of Sharon Springs; aunts and uncles Kent and Cindy Gfeller and Eva Siebert of Sharon Springs and cousins Amberly, Brett and Ryan Gfeller.

The Triplains KAY Club held their annual Mother-KAY banquet at Montana Mike’s in Colby. The celebration included interesting facts about the program and a candle-lighting ceremony to install new officers for the 2007-2008 school year. Five incoming freshmen members attended along with their mothers as well as 17 current members and mothers. The program is under the direction of Jana Gfeller.

Marsha Johnson of Sharon Springs was a Wednesday overnight guest of Dennis and Jana Gfeller and family and attended the candlelight ceremony to recognize Triplains honor society members Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Sheila Johnson and Mrs. Kate Moorhous presented awards to Triplains Middle School and High School students at a candlelight service Thursday afternoon as parents, grandparents and friends watched the students inducted into the National Honor Society.

What a beautiful day for Triplains play day. Grandpas, grandmas, parents and friends were standing around conversing casually on the grass carpet of the football field and the track while white, cottony clouds floated amid the robin egg blue sky. In contrast to the spectators, the game players and senior high students were jumping, running, chasing balls, keeping score and competing in a potpourri of challenging events. Sack lunches were provided for everyone at noon.
