Recycling center accepting e-waste

the state, Koon said, but Colby got the most.
Examples of recyclable electronic waste that the center will accept includes desktop and laptop computers, computer parts, cell phones, microwaves, answering machines, video disk and tape players, speakers, satellite receivers, toner and inkjet cartridges, and fax and copy machines.
The recycled items will be sent to Unicom a government corporation that gives jobs to inmates in federal prisons. The group will either recycle or refurbish the old electronics, Koon said.

The center wants recyclers to not leave anything outside. Computers and phones contain sensitive data, and a thief could get information about a person's identity from them, Koon said.
Groups with lots of recyclables should call (785) 460-1840 to make arrangements instead of bringing in the items during regular hours.
The center will be open every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will be open from 9 a.m. to noon on Christmas Eve and New Years Eve, Koon said.

City decides costs for discharge water

- Approved charging $2,400 a year to any business, which wants access to the city's effluent water. This amounts 400,000 gallons of water per day, Armstrong said.
- Reappointed Judge Richard Ress and attorney Gatz for next year. Both men were also given raises. Ress received a 3 percent raise for himself and his clerk. This will increase his pay from $2, 540 a month to $2, 615 a month. Gatz pay will increase from $125 an hour to $150 an hour.

• Approved increasing Armstrong's vacation time to 20 days a year starting next year.
• Approved $3,800 to pay Skill-Path Seminars, a business training company, to hold customer training sessions for businesses and department heads in the city. The seminars will train up to 30 people, Armstrong said.
"The sessions will teach city staff how to deal with customer when they are upset and how to be customer friendly," she said.

Meditation space available

The First Presbyterian Church of Colby, at 515 West 4th Street, has an Advent meditation space available to all who would like to spend some quiet, prayerful time.
The space is in the church's Little Chapel, off the east entrance on Garfield, and is open 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Materials are available or you can just spend some time in quiet reflection. For information call the church office at (785) 462-6342.

Merle Wolf examined one of the many nativities to be displayed at the Colby Presbyterian Church Nativi-Tea Saturday and Sunday.

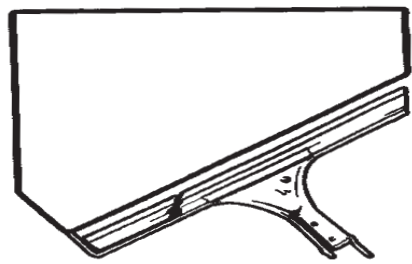

Church offers free Nativi-tea

The Colby Presbyterian Church, 515 W. Fourth St., will hold its second annual Nativi-Tea from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.
On display will be hundreds of nativity scenes from around the world that church and community members have collected.
The event is free and light refreshments will be served.
Meditation space is available in the chapel. Chapel hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Use east door, on Garfield Street.
