

Public television to offer call-in show with congressman

BUNKER HILL – Smoky Hills Public Television viewers will once again have the chance to talk with their congressman when the station presents “A Conversation With Jerry Moran” at 8:30 p.m. next Friday.

The live call-in program will be hosted by Dr. Richard Heil, a senior policy fellow with Fort Hays State University’s Docking Institute of Public Affairs and retired chair of the Fort Hays political science department.

Patrick Lowry, editor and publisher of The Hays Daily News, will represent the media.

Viewers should call (800) 337-4788 with questions for Rep. Moran.

Moran is a senior member of the U.S. House of Representatives Agriculture Committee and ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management. He also is a member of the Transportation and Infrastructure and Veterans’ Affairs committees.

The representative also helps lead a number of Congressional caucuses and coalitions, including the House Hunger Caucus, the Rural Health Care Coalition, the Congressional Caucus to Fight and Control Methamphetamine and the National Guard-Reserve Components Caucus.

His “Big First” Congressional District includes 69 counties of western and central Kansas.

‘Sun dogs’ a winter phenomenon

MANHATTAN – Just as the sun is rising or setting on a hazy day, watchers can sometimes see an unusual, strange-looking phenomenon.

“The sun will appear to have had pups: smaller reddish-orange spots that are nestled up close on either side,” said climatologist Mary Knapp. “Called sun dogs, these bright spots can’t show up on clear or cloud-covered days. They need just the right kind and amount of haze - which is why being able to see them is a fairly rare occurrence.”

Sun dogs are just sunlight, reflected off ice crystals in the atmosphere, said Knapp, who as the state climatologist for Kansas oversees the Kansas Weather Data Library, based at Kansas State University.

“They’re not that different from a ring around the sun or moon,” Knapp said. “If you’re lucky, though, you may get to see sun dogs’ most unique forms – a pillar or even a cross.

Station offers inauguration on Tuesday

BUNKER HILL – Smoky Hills Public Television plans to preempt about three hours of its regular mid-day schedule on Tuesday to present PBS’ “The NewsHour Coverage of Inauguration 2009.”

The special programming, including the swearing-in ceremony and inaugural address of President-elect Barack Obama, is expected to begin at 10 a.m. and is likely to continue for about three hours.

“The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer” is part of PBS Vote 2008 election coverage.
