Blues class for guitar coming up

HAYS - A four-day workshop from the Western Kansas String Academy at Fort Hays State University will explore blues guitar for players of all ages - and most abilities.

The class, taught by Chad Foust, a Topeka senior, will experiment with the 12-bar blues, learning basic chord structures and how to improvise on top of them. Students should know the basic chords.

Foust has been playing the guitar for 10 years with wide-ranging experience in jazz and pit bands. He is a member of Fat Cat Jazz, an ensemble that plays around the region. He has taught guitar classes for the past two years for the Western Kansas String Academy.

The blues evolved in African-American communities Blues is considered the origin of jazz and rock.

The class will be Monday to Friday, July 27 to 31, in Malloy Hall on the Fort Hays campus.

The class costs $25. For information or a registration form, contact Cathy Drabkin at (785) 628-5363 or cadrabkin@fhsu.edu. Deadline is Tuesday, July 21.

Checking out the church

Visitors looked around at the Colby Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints on Saturday during an open house for an addition which provides an expanded sanctuary and education space, along with a general facelift of the older parts of the church.

Know the right way to thaw meat

MANHATTAN – Forget to take the meat, poultry or fish for supper out of the freezer?

"Stress not," said Karen Blakeslee, a Kansas State University Research and Extension food scientist. "Using a quick-thaw method is preferable to allowing frozen meat, poultry or fish to thaw during the day on a kitchen counter."

Thawing frozen foods at room temperature invites bacterial growth, Blakeslee said.

To quick-thaw frozen meat, poultry or fish, place the package under cold running water or in a larger bowl of cold water. Change the water frequently - every 30 minutes - until the product is thawed, and then proceed with cooking.

To quick-thaw frozen meat, poultry or fish in a microwave, remove packaging and place the product in a microwave-safe dish. Follow manufacturer's directions, but be aware that thawing meat, poultry or fish in a microwave oven begins the cooking process, which will need to be completed, the food scientist said.

Planning ahead is preferable, said Blakeslee, who recommended placing a wrapped, frozen roast, package of ground beef, chops, chicken or fish in a pan with a lip edu/foodsafety and www.rrc.ksu. on the lower shelf of the refrigerator to thaw for a day or two before intended use.

Allow up to three days for a twoto-three-pound roast, she said.

More information about food, food safety and storage is available at county and district Extension offices and at: www.ksre.ksu. edu. Blakeslee, who is coordinator of K-State's Rapid Response Center, spends her working hours answering food and food safety questions.

Television station raises signal power casting says the Federal Communications Commission has approved an increase in signal power for its three CBS affiliate stations in western Kansas, including KBSL in Goodland.

This increase is designed to improve the digital signals for viewers who watch television over the air, but the station said viewers will need to "rescan" their digital television or converter box to receive their local CBS station.

Viewers still encountering difficulties receiving channels after the June 16 switch to digital can call to leave a message at the station's DTV Hotline at (316) 436-5627, and KWCH's digital experts will return the call.

KWCH-DT, a CBS affiliate, is licensed to the Wichita-Hutchinson market. As the flagship of Sunflower Broadcasting, Inc., KWCH oversees satellite stations KBSH-DT in Hays, KBSD-DT
