Four Lady Eagles runners earn medals in Goodland

Colby High junior Katrina Kaus finished second in the Goodland Invitational on Thursday with a time of 17 minutes, 12 seconds, while her sister, junior Katherine Kaus, took third right behind her with 17:53, leading four Lady Eagles medalists across the finish.

Junior Sara Martin and senior Rhett Martin also took medals at the meet, finishing eighth and 18th with times of 19:47 and 23:47.

Coach Bob Mannebach said the girls gave a good, solid performance, though they didn't have enough runners to post a team score. The only girl's squad that had the required six runners to get a team score was Ulysses, which posted a 52.

Jared Nally and freshman Dustin Reed both earned medals for the Eagles in the junior competition.

Nally placed eighth among the freshman and sophomore runners with a time of 20:02. Reed came in ninth with 20:05.

Senior Nathan Reed had the best time among junior and senior Colby runners with 21:19. He finished 19th overall.

The boys varsity finished fourth with 118 points. Ogallala, Neb., took first with 28, while Ulysses and Scott City finished second and third with 59 and 106. The Eagles placed in front of Lakin, Perkins County, Neb., and Goodland.

Other boys times included Quinter.

On the boys side, sophomore seniors Bob Schroeder, 21:20; Kalen Rasmussen, 22:56, Brock Wagoner, 22:34; Brandon Rasmussen, 24:33; Jordan Voss, 28; Dylan Stithem, 28:01; and Jacob Hutfles, 29:28.

Other times for junior varsity boys included freshmen John Faber, 21:06, and Brad Schroeder, 22:34; sophomore Jordan Rasmussen, 23:31; and freshmen Hank Schuette, 24:08, and Blake McNinch, 26:57.

"This was the first meet for our freshmen, and they performed well on tough course," said Mannebach.

The varsity boys and girls will run next at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at
