Dear Heloise: As we emptied my elderly parent's home in preparation for sale, we discovered that we spent a lot of time researching when appliances, furnace, water heater, etc., were IN-STALLED.

Our realtor gave us a great idea that we have incorporated here at home. Take a permanent marker and, in an inconspicuous place, mark the purchase date. No more researching at a later time. - Pam Lucas, Columbus, Ohio

Pam, good hint for my readers! - Heloise SEND A GREAT HINT TO: Heloise

Dear Readers: You responded in droves with hints for reusing coffee cans. Here are the best of the best:

· Hold toilet-paper rolls when camping.

• A lawn seeder (by punching holes in the bottom).

• In the garden as wind protection for new plantings and seedlings.

- To clean paintbrushes.
- Use in the garage for nuts and bolts.
- As a piggy bank to store spare change.

• In the laundry room for items collected from pockets.

And a unique hint for metal coffee cans is to bake homemade bread in them. (Loaves come out round, with a mushroom-shaped top.)

Since we're talking coffee cans, here's a hint from Diana of Colorado Springs, Colo.: "I use the small (11.5-ounce) plastic coffee 'can' as a kitchen-counter compost container. I put eggshells and used coffee grounds in it. Once it is half-full, I mix up the ingredients and crush the egg shells into small pieces. It is a good mixture to fertilize my outdoor flower garden. The container can be used again or thrown away. The label is easy to remove from the container, and it is presentable sitting on the countertop." - Heloise GREEN HINT

Dear Heloise: I needed more packing peanuts to fill up a box to be mailed and didn't have enough, so I used the next best thing - empty water bottles with the caps on tight did the trick! I just put them box firm and the gift we were sending intact! -J.A.B., Dryden, Va

CHEAP SOUP

Dear Heloise: In our household, we always have a soup stock container in the freezer, but in addition to the juices from vegetables, we add broccoli stems and leftover cauliflower, cabbage and celery. These all go in the soup with beans and seasoning, and we call this "garbage soup" - always different and always good, and nothing goes to waste. - Doris G., Fillmore, Calif.

A Psychological Ploy

Dear Mr. Becker: A great many people simply don't understand the psychological factors of the game. I know what I'm talking about because I have been playing rubber bridge for years with some friends, and I am far and away the biggest winner in the game.

However, this is not because I play better than 23 the others - as a matter of fact, they all bid and play their cards better than I do.

Where I have a big edge is when it comes to 26 psychology. For instance, the other night I won a 28 3,300-point rubber – the very first one we played. 31 My partner and I didn't have the cards to win by -33 such an amount, and to be perfectly frank about it, we should actually have lost the rubber.

It was the psychology, though, that did it, and this hand is what got us started. We got to five spades, and West led his singleton club.

I won with the king, noting that with neither opponent able to give the other a club ruff, the contract was now assured. I then led a spade and finessed. West took the king and made a good play by leading a low heart away from his ace in the hope that East could win and return a club.

East got pretty mad when he saw the heart lead because he wanted a club return also. When he played the ten of hearts, I let him win the trick by discarding a diamond.

This was the key play of the hand, and if you don't understand why, you are missing the whole point. East laid down the ace of diamonds, which I ruffed, and I then claimed the balance, making five.

You never heard such a ruckus as now took place. East and West accused each other of all kinds of stupidity for failing to return a club. Neither of them had noticed my seven-card club suit.

Their heated exchanges went on for a long time, and from then on they were easy pigeons. Cordially yours, John Dough
