Deaths

Carolyn M. Schrad

Carolyn (Caroline) M. Schrad Goddard, 89, mother of Marilyn (Steve) Friesen, Colby, of rural South Sioux City, Neb., died at home Saturday, Sept. 19, 2009.

She was born Dec. 9, 1919, in Randolph, Neb., the daughter of Anton and Josephine (Reker) Schrad. She attended St. Frances Catholic School in Randolph.

In 1939 she moved to Sioux City, Iowa. During World War II, she worked at Wincharger Factory. She married Milton Goddard on Aug. 10, 1952, in St. Benedict, Iowa. They moved to a farm in the South Sioux City area in the early 1950s.

She enjoyed gardening, canning, quilting and baking.

A fifty-year member of St. Michael Catholic Church and the Altar Society, she was a member of the Legion of Mary and the Faithfully Devoted Perpetual Association.

She was preceded in death by her husband on March 18, 1994, her parents, a brother Louis Schrad and a sister Cecelia Wintz.

Survivors also include four sons, Melvin (Kathy) Schrad, Lincoln, Neb.; Wallace (Sharon) Schrad, and Douglas Schrad and special friend Michaelene Irwin, all of South Sioux City; and Joseph (Debbie), Tempe, Ariz.; two other daughters, Brenda (Omar) Arambul, Yakima, Wash.; and Beverly (Dennis) Schmidt, Yankton, S.D.; a brother Paul (Leona) Schrad, Norfolk, Neb.; a brother-in-law, Jimmy Goddard, Homer, Neb.; 23 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Services were to be today at the church, with burial in St. Frances de Chantal Cemetery, Randolph, Neb.

The family suggest memorials to the St. Michael's School Endowment Fund, in care of St. Michael Catholic Church, 1315 First Ave., South Sioux City, Neb., 68776.

Roberta Marie Wilson

Roberta Marie Wilson, 86, Wamego, former Colby resident, died Sunday, Sept. 20, 2009, at Mercy Regional Health Center in Manhattan, following a short illness.

She was born June 14, 1923, near Smith Center, the daughter of Roy E. and Mabel N. (Bennett) Kaup. She attended a one-room rural school in Smith County and graduated in 1941 from Smith Center High School.

Following high school, she went to San Francisco, near where her future husband, Theodore A. Wilson, was stationed for military duty. They were married on Sept. 5, 1942, in Monterey, Calif.

Returning to Kansas, the family lived in several communities. Wilson worked as a nurse's aide for many years, beginning in Colby, and later in Clay Center and then at Dechairo hospital in Westmoreland, where she retired. While in Colby, she also worked at the Duckwall's store and the Thomas County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office. She was a lifetime member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary of Colby and the Colby chapter of Eastern Star.

A homemaker who loved cooking and taking care of her family, she enjoyed playing the piano, attending church, and playing canasta. She was especially proud to see her first great-great-grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her husband on Nov. 21, 1998, two brothers, Raymond Kaup and Bob Kaup, and two great-grandchildren.

Survivors include two daughters, Sharon K. Wilson, Wamego; and Susan (Ron) Daniel, Topeka; two sons, Ted. R. (Sylvia) Wilson, Wheaton; and Thomas K. Wilson, Wamego; nine grandchildren 22 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 24, 2009, at Stewart Funeral Home of Wamego. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery near Smith Center.

The family suggests memorials to the American Parkinson's Disease Association in care of the funeral home, Box 48, Wamego, Kan., 66547.

Online condolences may be left for the family at www.stewartfuneralhomes.com.

Corrections

The obituary for Bill Bremen-kamp on Page 4 of the Monday, Sept. 21, Colby Free Press incorrectly listed the name of his daughter Sherri Ribordy as Sherri Roe. This was incorrect information given to the paper.

Expo offers tips on successful aging

HAYS – “Growing older, but not old” is the theme for the 2009 “Full Circle ... An Aging Expo” scheduled for Friday, Nov. 6, at the Sternberg Museum in Hays.

“People are living longer, and there’s much that we can do to make the added years happy, healthy, productive and enjoyable,” said Tranda Watts, spokesperson for Kansas State University Research and Extension.

The one-day regional conference on aging is being planned and organized by northwest area extension staff and staff at the Northwest Kansas Area Agency on Aging, Watts said. She is a regional food, nutrition, health and safety educator.

The keynote address, by Dr. Tana Goering, a physician, is “Taking Charge of Your Health – and Healthcare.”

Up to three sessions of interest can be attended. Topics include:

- Elder Law, which documents are essential, creating/preserving end-of-life documents, and how to find, get and pay for good care.
- Vitamin D, growing interest in this vitamin and how it contributes to health.
- When a Loved One Passes explores the grieving process and offers tips in risk factors.

- Nursing Homes: The Cruise Ships of the Future, will explore pre-planning care for when unwilling or able to live at home.
- Drug Interaction, medications and how they interact.
- Seniors as Assets, opportunities to serve community.
- Mind Aerobics, simple tips to keep the mind sharp.
- Enjoying Beautiful Sight, an overview on senior eye health, including cataracts, macular degeneration and diabetes.
- Affordable Kansas Travel, nearby attractions and affordable opportunities for vacations.
- Self Defense for Seniors, laws, court orders, statistics and personal safety information.

Registration will be at 9:30 a.m., with the conference beginning at 10 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m.

Cost is $25 per person or $40 per couple, including lunch and materials.

Deadline for registration is Monday, Oct. 26. Information is available at www.northwest.ksu.edu. Click on “Full Circle Brochure” or call the Extension Northwest Area Office at (785) 462-6281.

Socially disadvantaged farmers offered Farm Service Agency loans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has money to lend women and members of minority groups who want to purchase or operate a family-size farm.

Dwight A. Jurey, farm loan manager for the U.S. Farm Service Agency for Logan, Thomas and Gove counties, said the agency can make farm operating and ownership loans.

“Each year,” Jurey said, “the Farm Service Agency earmarks a portion of its farm-loan funding for socially disadvantaged applicants, people who have been subjected to racial, ethnic or gender inequality without regard to their individual qualities.”

This can include women, African Americans, American Indians, Hispanics, and others. Loan approval is neither automatic nor guaranteed.

“Socially disadvantaged applicants must meet the same eligibility criteria as other applicants,” Jurey said.

Applicants must be citizens with a good credit history and education, training or experience managing or operating a farm and be unable to obtain credit elsewhere.

The agency can make direct loans to applicants unable to get commercial credit or provide loan guarantees to commercial lenders.

Operating loans can be used to buy livestock, equipment, feed, seed or pay other business related expenses. The repayment schedule is usually one to seven years.

Ownership loans provide capital to purchase or enlarge a farm, construct or improve buildings, promote soil and water conservation and pay closing costs. Loan terms are up to 40 years.

Last year, Jury said, the state obligated $1.3 million for a total of 48 loans to qualified farmers under the minority program and $12.2 million for 198 loans under the Beginning Farmer Program.

For information, contact the Logan county office at (785) 672-4861, or stop by the office at 1015 West Second in Oakley.
