

Pre-show haircut

VERA SLOAN/ColbyFree Press

The black Natural owned by Josh Mazanec got a haircut before the show last year. Josh was 19 and this was his last year in the Abilene Hustlers 4-H Club. He is the son of John and Jennifer Mazanec of Colby.

Foundation plans annual fair breakfast

The Thomas County Community Foundation will be hosting the annual fair breakfast on Thursday at the 4-H Building.

They will be serving scrambled eggs, sausage, hashbrowns, fruits, biscuits with butter and jelly, to go along with orange juice and coffee. Virginia Umberger will cater the event.

The foundation has sponsored the fair breakfast for four years as well as other free services to help benefit the community. Board members from the foundation team up to pull donations from businesses and private organizations and the interest is then given back to help the community in grants.

Board members will be present at the breakfast to answer questions about what the foundation does and greet all who attend. Everyone is welcome to attend and donations are welcome.

All smashed up

The demolition derby is always a crowd favorite. This year's derby will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the large arena.
