"We have nothing to do with this, so I don't know what more I can say," said Holland spokesman Seth Bundy.

The commercial attacks Brownback's support of the fair tax, which would eliminate the federal income tax and move to a national sales tax. The ad suggest that would reduce taxes for the wealthy and raise taxes for everyone else.

Sherriene Jones-Sontag, a spokeswoman for the Brownback campaign, declined to comment about the planned ethics complaint.

Named along with the Holland campaign in the complaint is Frances Graves, the PAC's treasurer, who was a consultant for Holland early in his campaign and a former state Democratic Party staff mem- solved.

ber. Graves did not return a telephone call and e-mail message seeking comment about the complaint.

The complaint also said the Holland campaign and Kansas Moderate Majority use the same media company, Media Research and Strategies.

Democrats have long suggested that Brownback has benefited from campaign-related activities by conservative groups. After his first U.S. Senate race in 1996, they forced investigations into contributions that came to him through a Washington-based consulting firm, Triad Management Services. In 2002, the Federal Election Commission required Brownback to turn over $19,000 in over-the-limit contributions linked to Triad.

Barker said he didn't know how quickly the ethics commission would act. It typically assigns complaints to a subcommittee to investigate. Barker said it could be after the election before the matter is re-

Relief well intersects BP well in Gulf

By Harry R. Weber

Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A relief well drilled nearly 2.5 miles beneath the floor of the Gulf of Mexico has intersected BP's blown-out well, a prelude to plugging it once and for all, the U.S. government said late Thursday.

The final seal should happen by Sunday, five agonizing months after an explosion sank a drilling rig and led to the worst offshore oil spill in U.S. history.

Retired Coast Guard Adm. Thad Allen, the government's point man on the oil spill, said in a statement that data shows the two wells are joined. The next step will be to pump mud and cement down through the relief well to seal the ruptured well permanently from the bottom.

The April 20 blast sank the Deepwater Horizon rig, killing 11 workers and triggering the spill that eventually spewed 206 million gallons of oil into the Gulf. BP PLC is a majority owner of the well and was leasing the rig from owner Transocean Ltd.

The disaster caused an environmental and economic nightmare for people who live, work and play along hundreds of miles of Gulf shoreline from Florida to Texas. It also spurred civil and criminal investigations, cost gaffe-prone BP chief Tony Hayward his job and brought increased governmental scrutiny of the oil and gas industry, including a costly moratorium on deepwater offshore drilling that is still in place.

Midwest banker survey suggests weak economy

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) – A survey of rural bankers in 10 Midwest and Plains states suggests the rural economy will remain weak in the months ahead despite the strength of farming.

The overall Rural Mainstreet index remained in negative territory in September but increased slightly to 47.6 from August's 46, according to the report released to 57.7 in September from Au-Thursday. Any score below 50 suggests the economy will contract over the next six months. "While the farm sector is experiencing healthy growth, Rural Mainstreet businesses continue to report waning economic fortunes," Creighton University economist Ernie Goss said.

BP took some of the blame for the Gulf oil disaster in an internal report issued earlier this month, acknowledging among other things that it misinterpreted a key pressure test of the well. But in a possible preview of its legal strategy, it also pointed the finger at its partners on the doomed rig.

Commissioner says keep up with changing laws

TOPEKA – Kansas Insurance Commissioner Sandy Praeger is advising people to check changing insurance needs as college classes begin, especially when it comes to health insurance and identity theft.

"College students across Kansas want their school experiences to be positive and rewarding," Praeger said. "With the changes in health insurance coverage contained in the new federal law, and the increased need to be vigilant with identity issues, it's important to review the coverages available for both."

Health Insurance

Beginning Thursday, the health-care law passed earlier this year allows most young adults up to age 26 to stay on their parents' insurance. Prior to this, many health insurance policies covered dependents up to age 23.

Coverage with the new law extends benefits to adult children regardless of marital status, financial dependency, enrollment in school or residency.

Insurance companies are required to notify customers of their opportunity to enroll in this coverage, but it may not take effect until the next open enrollment period of the parents' health plan.

Until the coverage takes effect, there are other

Another option is purchasing a traditional individual plan. For healthy young people these could provide catastrophic coverage and preventive benefits at an affordable premium.

If the student is covered under a family's plan which includes a provider network, check to see if the student will be outside the network service area while at school.

Identity Theft

Identity theft is one of the fastest-growing crimes in the United States, costing victims more than $5 billion annually.

Identity theft insurance cannot protect a parent or student from becoming a victim of identity theft, and it does not cover direct monetary losses incurred as a result. Instead, identity theft insurance provides coverage for the cost of reclaiming the financial identity - such as the costs of making phone calls or copies, mailing documents, taking time off from work without pay (lost wages) and hiring an attorney.

Parents can check to see if their homeowner's policy includes identity theft insurance and ask their insurance agent if this extends to their student. If not, homeowners might be able to purchase an endorsement to amend such coverage. "There's plenty for parents and students to worry These plans are sold by an insurer that has contracted about when the students are headed back to school," Commissioner Praeger said.
