As a result, the Roman governor had her executed by fire or the sword. She is quoted as saying, "You may stain your sword with my blood, but you will never be able to profane my body, consecrated to Christ."

On April 28, 1928, fire destroyed the church and rectory. The flames spread so quickly that nothing important could be saved and most of the parish records were destroyed. The high school basement was used for services until a new church could be constructed. The new church was first build as a basement and added onto later. The church basement was first used on Palm Sunday 1929.

It was decided in 1947 not to build on the basement church because it was not considered large enough for the growing needs of the parish. The basement was used for a parish hall until the present Education Center was built.

The parish needed a place for religious education and for meetings, so St Agnes Education Center was constructed in 1964. It was completed with a full kitchen, large multipurpose room, classrooms, library and restrooms. It is used for youth education, retreats, a meeting place for the St Agnes Ladies Organization and Knights of Columbus, prayer services and wakes, funeral dinners, parish picnics, Labor Day sales, and other activities. Demolition of the old basement church took place in 1975.

With the decline in the number of priests, lay members have been encouraged to take a more active role in the church. St. Agnes Parish became a mission parish to Sacred Heart Parish in Park in 1993. In July 2009, Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary Parish, Grinnell, joined St. Agnes as a mission parish.

The first few days were a challenge, he said, making sure the halls at the intermediate building didn't get congested. Now, the teachers and administrators have timed things so that the classes don't have to pass each other in the halls.

"From what I observed, it's going really well," Krannawitter said.
