The commissioners tabled the salary discussion until a later date.

Shrock also gave the commissioners an update on the fair board's plan for 4-H building heating and air conditioning. He said the heaters have been pieced back together over the years and they really need to be replaced. The fair board would like for the county to go ahead with the proj-

He said the fair board could apthe heating and air conditioning. However, there were other projects needing to be done at the fair grounds and they could use the money there.

The commissioners asked Schrock to have the fair board try for the grant first.

County Attorney Bruce Flipse was called in to give an opinion on a $772 bill the county had received for 4 1/2 yards of concrete delivered to a location in the county. Commissioner Sowers said he had talked to the sheriff and learned the bill was for a dog pen for the drug dog at the home would be paid for with drug forfeiture money.

Flipse said that since the sheriff was spending drug money, it could be used for caring for the drug dog. The commissioners asked Flipse to call the attorney general's office to verify the legality of spending forfeiture money for a dog pen on private property.

Brownback, like some Republican legislators, views the state's funding formula as flawed. His budget would cut the state's base aid per pupil by about 6 percent, or $232 per student while increasing total state tax dollars spent on schools. The money would cover rising costs for teacher pensions and school building projects.

"Is it necessarily the state's responsibility to fund the sum total of all curriculum that schools should choose to offer?" asked O'Neal, a Hutchinson Republican. "No, it's probably something less than that, but it is certainly vastly more than the traditional reading, writing and arithmetic."

Meanwhile, the retirement system, which covers teachers and other public employees, faces a $7.7 billion gap between projected revenues and benefits lawmakers to dramatically increase the budget for it has promised retirees and current public employschools. The state has backed away from those com- ees for the coming decades. from a circus.

Morris, a Hugoton Republican, said his goal is to pass a pension bill this year.

"If we keep putting it off, it won't look good for our bond ratings and other considerations," he said before the news conference.

Brownback's administration is taking suggestions for changes in Medicaid through the end of February. It wants to overhaul the federal-state welfare program because costs are rising.

Medicaid is a problem partly because the state has been using federal economic stimulus dollars, set to disappear this summer, to prop it up, but also because of increased demands for coverage and rising medical costs.

Society Editor

The Colby Free Press is looking for a part-time society editor to do social notes, weddings, engagements, obituaries, church and club items, features and other news of interest to the town. This is a great way to be in touch with the pulse of your town and get to know a lot of people.

It requires accuracy, speed and attention to detail. Work week would be 10-15 hours. Pay commensurate with experience and ability. Send a letter or e-mail to Kevin Bottrell, editor, at 155 W. Fifth St., Colby, Kan., 67701, kbottrell@nwkansas.com.This could be the job you've been looking for. EOE m/f/h.

• Decided not to apply for a federal grant to cover 70 percent of the cost of providing weather radios for people in the city, or $22.50 each, whichever is less. Armstrong said there was no money in the 2011 budget for the city's share.

• Approved allowing an Ultimate Fighting organization to rent the Community Building for an event. Recreation Director Stacy Lee said she met with Randy Lange, brother of Ken Lang of Colby, who is tour manager for the event. Lee said no date had been set, adding that the organization needed to get council approval before it could try to schedule an event. She said she would probably know something in a week.

• Agreed to a request by Lois Unger for a stop sign for northbound traffic at Fifth and Copeland

Avenue. Armstrong said the intersection has an offset, with a tree that prevents people from seeing traffic without pulling out into Copeland.

 Approved a proposal from Quality Abstract for $225 per closing of each airport land purchase, plus the cost of title insurance. Armstrong said the city is buying land from 13 owners who combine to own 207 acres.

• Decided to allow Public Works Director Chris Bieker to buy a Stanley power unit, from Steffen, Inc., based in Sioux City, Iowa, for $6,038 to drain the clarifiers, or big round basins, at the wastewater treatment plant once a year. The power unit is a self-contained engine with hydraulic pumps,
