Dog survives owl attack

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. (AP) -An owl attack has left a 4-pound chihuahua with a healthy fear of the dark.

Chico the chihuahua was out for a walk with his owner, George Kalomiris, in the Chicago suburb of Crystal Lake. Kalomiris says the fall of 2009, four students - seniors Cody Duffey and Paden Ellis and juniors Karlton Leiker and Lucas Schnider - from Jessica Bienhoff's architectural drafting and design class created computeraided designs of what they thought the trailer should look like. Jones said they presented the designs to the honor society and its faculty council. She said no design was considered good "as is," so aspects from each design were incorporated into the trailer.

Jones said the design of the entire trailer had been tions' recycling program to the grade school and decided on after Christmas last school year. Rundel's middle school. class began working on the project in the fall.

Jones said the society didn't have the money to pay for the project, so they had to rely on local and state grants. She said they received grants from the Thomas County Community Foundation, Midwest Energy, Walmart, High Plains Lions Club, Morning Glory - Family and Community Educators, a group that teaches family and community-oriented ways to learn consumer sciences, and the Pacific Railroad. She said the trailer was completed about a week ago to sell. Barnett said he got on the phone and called the territory manager for that area, and that buyer will have worldwide exposure to sell his equipment.

"The power of the internet is a great tool for people who are watching their income tax liability," Barnett noted. "If your machinery is depreciated out, and vour tax man says vou can only have a certain amount of additional income before tax time, you can spread out the income with internet selling as opposed to a traditional auction where everything sells the same day.

"Bankers like the web site, too. They use it as a tool to see what used equipment is bringing when they're ready to make a used equipment loan. Also, when the

were made is right there in black and white.'

If you live in northwest Kansas and have a piece of machinery or multiple pieces of machinery to sell, the first step is to call Barnett. He explains to the seller how the auction works, takes many pictures of the items, gets all the information like make, model, hours of use if applicable, size, condition, including repair bills if they are available, and puts it all on the web site.

With pictures and information in place, the item is then ready for online bids. It stays available for online bidding a minimum of five weeks. The actual auction is when the time limit for bidding comes down to the wire, and the activity gets really lively. In Wednesday's auction, the bids on an ensilage extended 5 minutes at a time, and comes to where the machinery or when no other bids come in for 5 minutes, the auction ends.

Barnett said anyone interested in buying can register on the website for a bidder number, and if he has to be away from the computer at auction time, he just types in a maximum bid. If the item sells for less than the registered maximum at the next asking bid over the previous bid.

All Big Iron auctions are unreserved, and big Iron collects and pays the seller.

HOUSTON - Police stood guard as an ambulance took Rep. Gabrielle Giffords from intensive care to a rehabilitation hospital in Houston, an encouraging step that came after doctors upgraded her condition from serious to good. Doctors at Memorial Hermann

Texas Medical Center Hospital determined the Arizona congresswoman was healthy enough to move to nearby TIRR Memorial Hermann, where she will continue her rehabilitation work.
