Deaths

Lynn R. Moulden

Lynn R. Moulden, 74, a Winona farmer, died Wednesday, Feb. 16, 2011, at the Logan County Hospital in Oakley.

He was born April 21, 1936, in Winona to Loyd and Dorothy (Holsapple) Moulden and raised in western Kansas, graduating from Winona High School in 1954 and attending Kansas Wesleyan University in Salina.

From 1957 to 1961 he served in the army.

Several careers preceded his return to the family farm to help his father, including ownership of a custom art frame shop in Madison, Wis. His interests included drawing, photography and collecting art work, along with classical and jazz music and reading.

Following his father's death he became the primary caretaker of his mother.

He was married and had one child.

He was preceded in death by his father, a daughter, Marcy Moulden, in 1976 and former wife Joyce (DeVries) Moulden.

Survivors include his mother, of Oakley; and a sister, Carolyn (Harold) Herring, Grove, Okla.; along with three nieces, Traci Trent, Lawrence; Kalie Anderson, Kansas City, Mo.; and Kalyn Schneider, Valparaiso, Ind.

There will be a memorial service at 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, 2011, at Kennedy-Koster Funeral Home in Oakley. Military honors by the Oakley Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held with inurnment at the Winona Cemetery at a later date.

Cremation.

The family suggests memorials to the Logan County Hospital and Logan County Manor in care of the funeral home, Box 221, Oakley, Kan., 67748.

Corrections

The article "Three pointers key ..." on Page 8 of the Thursday, Feb. 17, edition of the Colby Free Press gave an incorrect class for Michael Morris, a sophomore.

The article "Colby High wrestling squad ..." on the same page listed Ryan Moore as losing 15-2 to Matt Urrutia. It was John Faber who lost to Urrutia.

Both were reporting errors.

Banish words, banish bad actions

Every year, since 1976, Lake Superior State College in Sault Saint Marie, Mich., publishes their "List of Words Banished from the Queen's English for Mis-Use, Over-use, and General Uselessness."

This year's list of words and phrases recommended for permanent exile is, in part -

VIRAL - Often used to describe the spreading of items on the Internet.

EPIC - Cecil B. DeMille movies are epic. Internet fallouts and opinions delivered in caps-lock are not. "Epic fail," "epic win", "epic (noun)."

FAIL - Fail is not a noun. It is not an adjective. It is a verb. If this word is not banned, then this entire word banishment system is full of FAIL.

BFF - Young girls often call each other BFF (Best Friends Forever) and it lasts about 10 minutes. Wouldn't BFFA (Best Friends For Awhile) makes more sense?

MAN UP - Can a woman "man-up," or would she be expected to "woman-up"?

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE - Aren't all Americans people?

I'M JUST SAYIN' - N'uff said!

FACEBOOK / GOOGLE used as verbs

LIVE LIFE TO THE FULLEST - Would we want to live life to the emptiest?

I imagine the Queen, William Shakespeare, and Noah Webster are rolling over in their respective graves!

Wouldn't it be wonderful if there were "actions" we could banish as easily as words?

In Galatians 5:19-21 (NKJV)

Craig Crossman

From the Pulpit

We read of the actions we would all like to banish, these "works" of the flesh: "...Now the works of the flesh are evident, which are: adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lewdness, idolatry, sorcery, hatred, contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, heresies, envy, murders, drunkenness, revelries, and the like..."

Eugene Peterson is even more blunt with this same text in The Message: "...It is obvious what kind of life develops out of trying to get your own way all the time: repetitive, loveless, cheap sex; a stinking accumulation of mental and emotional garbage; frenzied and joyless grabs for happiness; trinket gods; magic-show religion; paranoid loneliness; cutthroat competition; all-consuming-yet-never-satisfied wants; a brutal temper; an impotence to love or be loved; divided homes and divided lives; small-minded and lopsided pursuits; the vicious habit of de-personalizing everyone into a rival; uncontrolled and uncontrollable addictions..."

Who would even want to admit these "deeds of the flesh" are part of our lives? And yet they are.

I have a temper. I truly hate to admit it, but I do. Most of us would have to admit the same.

And those who don't agree with me? What about those "rabid Republicans" or those "yellow-dog Democrats." It is simpler to demean and depersonalize those with whom we disagree than to try to find common ground.

When we are unhappy, we seek happiness in ways that are self-defeating, that make us even unhappier. Buying things we do not need, spending money we do not have, looking for joy in the bottom of a bottle or in the illusion of pleasure with drugs.

But I don't understand. Weren't these behaviors supposed to have gone away once I became a Christian? Once I accepted Christ as my Savior, wasn't my life supposed to be all cleaned up?

No, not really. At least not all of a sudden, all on its own.

You see, there is no magic wand. Change takes work. And just as we have to work at banishing words from vocabularies, so we have to work at banishing self-defeating behavior from our lives.

Paul calls it "walking in the Spirit." And he describes it in this passage in Galatians as the "fruits of the Spirit."

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law. And those who are Christ's have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit."

I appreciate the way Eugene Peterson treats these verses:

"But what happens when we live God's way? He brings gifts into our lives, much the same way that fruit appears in an orchard - things like affection for others, exuberance about life, serenity. We develop a willingness to stick with things, a sense of compassion in the heart, and a conviction that a basic holiness permeates things and people. We find ourselves involved in loyal commitments, not needing to force our way in life, able to marshal and direct our energies wisely."

As those of Lake Superior State College prove, banishing words isn't easy. But it can be done.

As Paul shows us in Galatians, banishing the works of the flesh is far from easy as well, as is changing our lives for the better. But it can and must be done.
