

Pumpkins for sale, cat not included

LAURA KREJCI/Sacred Heart School

Playing with cats may not have been on the agenda at the pumpkin patch Sept. 28, but that didn't stop Sacred Heart second grader Samantha Diederich from finding a new friend. Teacher Michelle Quint took her students to Moonlight Gardens Greenhouse, owned by her mother Charlene Kaus. Students Kamrynn Elling, Cassandra Zimmerman (holding pumpkin) and Miah Ortner also came along.

Detroit going for hopscotch record

DETROIT (AP) - Organizers say they believe they've chalked up a new world record in Detroit.

Several groups set out to create the world's largest hopscotch course in the city Saturday.

They invited artists, community leaders, children, families and businesses to come out and chalk up 22,720 feet worth of Detroit's sidewalks.

That's a 4.2-mile course, which would be good for a new world record. Mlive.com says the results are being submitted to recordsetter.com for validation.

Guinness World Records says the longest hopscotch game until now was 3.4 miles last year in Eden Mills, Ontario.

Organizers say their idea is to bring people together and encourage community, play, imagination and the creative use of design.
