gurt with Sacred Heart Catholic and Heartland Christian school.

Krannawitter also told the board that the fifthgrade community service project, leaf raking, had gone well this year, and he expects to do it again next year.

Middle School Principal Rob Ross reported

The district will have safety training for all staff with the police department to practice safety procedures if a shooter were to come into one of the buildings.

Superintendent Terrel Harrison said the district will make available a survey later this week asking parents whether they want the district's buildings locked during school hours to increase student safety. The survey will be available online and in the schools' offices.

Nikol Nolan, food service director, has created a "Snack Shack" at the middle school similar to the one at the high school, Ross said. It has been popular so far, he said, but he has been emphasizing to the students that the snacks are to be purchased in addition to their normal lunch options, not in place of lunch.

Ross said the seventh graders wrote essays entitled "If I Were Mayor," an essay contest sponsored by the League of Kansas Municipalities. Ross said middle school students had participated in past years but not recently. They were invited to participate again this year by Colby Mayor Gary Adrian.
