In STAR Event competition April 2-4 at the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America state showcase, Goodland high school members received three gold awards and three silvers.

The Senior Parliamentary Procedure Team of Brennen Clouse, Shelbi Hall, Rory Kling, Taylor McLemore, Chelsie Gausman, Julica Bonsall and T.J. Freeman won a gold.

In National Programs in Action, Courtney Sheldon and Devin Mangus received gold for Bully Busters. In Creed: Memorize and Interpretation, senior, Heidi Yonkey got the gold, and in junior, Bryan Guyer won a silver.

Silver awards went to Halli Stone, Marissa Acuff and Callee Warren for Chapter Showcase Manual and to Andrew Shores, Michael Pettibone, Talison Crosby, Kaitlin Lammers and Kirsten Topliff in Junior Parliamentary Procedure Team.

"They all did really well," said Sponsor Sarah Short, "just not quite high enough to go to nationals. Only the top gold score goes to nationals."

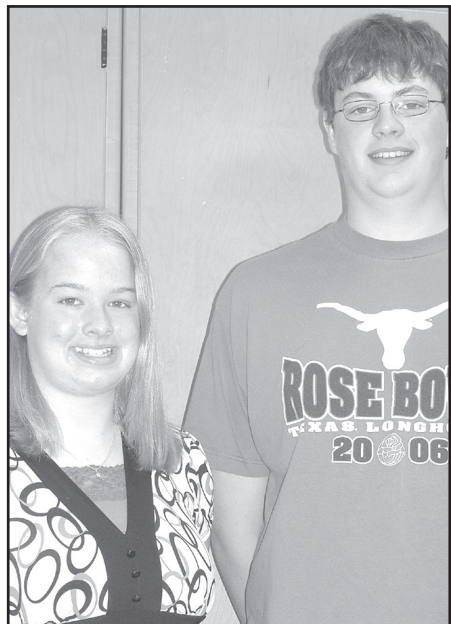

The Goodland club has been active in community service, Short said, and Goodland had a lot of parents and FCCLA alumni helping at the showcase.

The Goodland club donated 50 hours to the American Red Cross, gave $700 and donated 60 pints of blood during the previous school year for Go Red With FCCLA. They had the Blood Mobile at the state showcase, she said, and six Goodland members gave blood there.

They also helped unload the "Feed the Children" truck, she said, a national project, ect, while it was at the showcase.

Alumni who attended included Amanda Hoffman, who was the state coordinator for the showcase; Aaron Duell, who was in charge of technology; and Michael Smith, who held three sessions as the leadership trainer for peer educators, district officers and state officers, Short said.

She said Dick Short was the back-stage announcer for the event, and Terry and Terri Richardson of VIP Video and Design recorded the event live, which was shown on three screens so everyone could see each event.

Goodland took 27 students to the showcase, Mrs. Short said, and 19 competed in STAR events.
