

Caldwell Ave. all poured

In spite of the damp, rainy weather Thursday morning, employees of Miller Construction laid concrete for the north apron at the intersection of Caldwell and Eighth Street. Workers moved cement where they wanted it after it was poured from the truck. Another employee finished smoothing cement. Other workers evened out the base prior to pouring more cement. The north-south aprons are the last part of that intersection to be done.

eligible to run for the spots on the commission, and only residents of those districts will vote for their commissioner, said Mary Ann Snethen, deputy county clerk. A bill to allow countywide elections died in the state Legislature again this year.

The bill (HB2307) was introduced last year after the citizens asked for it during the election when Thomas faced a contest from Darin Neufeld and Larry Enfield. The bill stalled in the Senate Election and Local Government committee last March after passing the House, then died in a conference committee this year. Members said they were disturbed that Tiede and Thomas did not fully support the bill.

Several people have filed for election as Republican precinct committee members, who will be responsible for recommending to the governor replacements if anyone leaves office, Snethen said. No one has filed on the Democratic ballot, and the Democrats' county committee usually is not filled. Filing so far:

Ward I committeemen Michael Bretz and Jeff Mason, Ward I committeewoman Roberta Bretz, committeewoman from Grant Township Lois Cosman, committeeman from Itasca Harlan D. House, committeewoman from Itasca Cora A. House, committeewoman from Lincoln Cheryl Traub, committeeman from Logan Andrew B. House, committeewoman from Logan Gennifer G. House, committeeman from McPherson

Township Elmer Purvis, committeewoman from McPherson Joyce Purvis, McPherson Township Trustee Joyce Purvis and McPherson Township Treasurer Carolyn J. Paul.

State Sen. Ralph Ostmeyer and Rep. Jim Morrison said they both will seek re-election this year, with no opposition in sight so far.

Ostmeyer, a Grinnell Republican, said he has filed for re-election and hopes to serve one more four-year term in the Senate.

Morrison (R-Colby) said he filed for re-election several months ago, and hoped he would be able to serve at least one or maybe two more two-year terms.

U.S. Sen. Pat Roberts (R-Dodge City) filed in January for re-election, and U.S. Rep. Jerry Moran (R-Hays) filed May 19.

to take the building down at little cost to the city, with the city crew grinding up the bricks from the walls to use in alleys.

Hill suggested the commissioners think about what they want to do and he would bring it back up at the next meeting on Monday, June 2.

In other reports:

• Hill told the commission the city had received $28,820 as a premium refund on its workers compensation coverage because the city had fewer claims. City Clerk Mary Volk said the employees had participated in safety training recommended by the insurer.

• Garcia asked Hill about research he has been doing on nitrate contamination in well water. Hill said he was planning to go to McCook, Neb., in June to look at a nitrate treatment system

"We know the state Department of Health and Environment is looking at us," Hill said, "and they know we are looking for a way to treat nitrates."

He said it is not a matter of if the city will have to treat nitrates, but rather when and whether the city does it by the well or tries to develop a central treatment plant.

• Commissioner Annette Fairbanks

said she and Garcia had attended a Master Gardeners program on adding color to the city. She said it was good to see how just a little color here and there can spruce up the towns.

• Commissioners Dechant, Garcia and Fairbanks went into closed session for 15 minutes to personnel at the request of Garcia. Commissioner Dave Daniels and Mayor Rick Billinger were absent.

The next regular commission meeting will be at 5 p.m. on Monday, June 2, in the commission room on the second floor of the City Administration Building, 204 W. 11th.
