

Soup supper raises money for field trips

Members of the Central Site Council had a soup supper Thursday night during the evening session of Parent and Teacher Conferences. They figured they served about 177 people and made about $1,000. The money, said Jeris McCombs, will be used on the kid's field trips this spring. Third grade will go to the Denver Zoo. Fourth grade will go to the Shrine Circus and fifth grade will go to the Natural History Museum at Denver. Deb Ihrig (right) gets a bowl of soup ready.

Photographer has exhibit

Roxie Yonkey, a Goodland photographer, is exhibiting a selection of her photographic works at the Prairie Museum of Art & History, 1905 S. Franklin Avenue, Colby from now through April.

A reception will be from 1 to 3 p.m. (Mountain Time) on Saturday, April 16, when people can meet and talk to her about her photography. Yonkey's exhibit touches on both rural and urban themes. Her celebration of High Plains subjects like barns, sunflowers and windmills comes through in several of her photographs. City scenes from New York City and Boston were taken by her on trips.

State contest offers scholarships

The Kansas Department of Transportation is sponsoring its fifth annual arts contest encouraging Kansas youth to resist pressure and abstain from drinking alcohol until reaching the legal age limit of 21.

The contest allows Kansas' youth to express themselves creatively through music, art or writing in hopes of winning as much as $3,000 in scholarships. Kansas residents, ages 14 through 20, are encouraged to enter the competition by logging onto www.sobrietyrocksk.net. Entries are due Friday, April 15. Three separate $1,000 scholarships will be awarded in June for best music, best art and best writing. It is possible for one contestant to win in more than one category.

"Half of Kansas high school seniors report having consumed alcohol in the last month, many of them binge drinking," reports Pete Bocyk, manager of the department's traffic safety section. "High levels of drinking among teens of all ages make underage drinking a serious and widespread threat to all Kansans' health and safety."

Potential topics could include peer pressure to drink alcohol, finding more to life than drinking, problems that are created or made worse by alcohol or why waiting until age 21 to drink is smart.

The newly updated home page at www.sobrietyrocksk.net features 2010 winners to inspire student thinking of entering this year.

Entries will be judged by instructors and professionals in the three categories, department of transportation representatives and youth advocates from across the state. Judging will be based on creativity, originality, craftsmanship and the passion of the message.

Log onto www.sobrietyrocksk.net for contest information, a complete set of rules or for inspiration on the KDOT 2011 Sobriety Rocks Scholarship Contest.

Webcast to help growers

Focus on Soybean, a project of the Plant Network Management Network, is making two new webcasts available to growers through Saturday, April 30:

- Understanding Soybean Yield and Keys to Entering the 100-Bushel Soybean Club. Bill Wiebold, soybean extension specialist at the University of Missouri, helps consultants, growers, and other better understand soybean yield and what it takes to reach the 100-bushel threshold.

The presentation discusses yield and what influences it, along with six keys to increasing yield. Its goal is better understanding of how soybean plants produce. It can be viewed at www.plantmanagementnetwork.org/edcenter/seminars/100BushelClub/.

- Performance of First- and Second-Generation Roundup Ready Soybean Varieties. Shaun Casteel, soybean extension specialist at Purdue University, discusses yield comparisons. The effects of geography, maturity group and seed treatments are covered. Go to www.plantmanagementnetwork.org/edcenter/seminars/RR1vRR2/.

Focus on Soybean is a product of the Plant Management Network, www.plantmanagementnetwork.org, a nonprofit online publisher.

Other presentations are available.

Moran to stop on tour

U.S. Senator Jerry Moran will make his first visit to Sherman County on his first statewide listening tour since becoming a Senator.

Sen. Moran will be in town from 11 a.m. to noon on Thursday, at Western State Bank, 815 Center Ave. to visit with citizens.

Sen. Moran will travel to each of Kansas' 105 counties to talk with area residents about their hopes and concerns. The issues he focuses on and the work he does in Washington, D.C., is largely based on conversations he has with Kansans during these town hall meetings.
